

WORKMAN CRUSHED BY TRUCK DIES

DORSEY HESSER, 40,
FALLS UNDER WHEEL
OF HEAVY VEHICLE

Accident Occurs At Paving Job Near Spring
Valley

Dorsey J. Hesser, 40, Ada, O., employe of Bish and Carey, Ada contractors, on the Cincinnati Pike paving job south of Spring Valley, died at McClellan Hospital at 9:30 p. m. Monday, four hours after he was run over by a heavy company truck which was picking up workmen at quitting time.

According to fellow workmen who could hardly account for the accident, Hesser evidently stumbled or lost his hold as he boarded the truck. One wheel passed over his abdomen. He did not lose consciousness.

Coroner R. L. Haines, Jamestown, was to hold an inquest Tuesday morning or afternoon into the death.

The accident occurred at about 5:30 p. m. at the junction of the Cincinnati Pike and Spring Valley and Roxanna Road, two miles south of Spring Valley.

Hesser was employed as a steam roller operator.

At quitting time an empty truck moved along the pike picking up employees to take them to camp for the night.

The body was taken to the J. H. Whitmer funeral parlors, this city and will be removed to his home in Ada Tuesday for burial.

Two brothers both of Ada, one named Charles, arrived in Xenia at 3:30 a. m. Tuesday but left almost immediately for home again to arrange for funeral services.

Hesser is unmarried and is survived by three brothers, one of whom lives in Tennessee, and one sister.

PROTESTANTS WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR EVANGELISM DRIVE

Every Protestant An
Evangelist Is Campaign Slogan

COLUMBUS, O., June 29.—Plans to make every Ohio Protestant an evangelist were announced today at a conference of state Protestant denominations here.

The conference approved a working arrangement and named a committee to organize evangelical plans for the campaign, to begin and end with the Lenten season in 1927.

Efforts would be centered particularly according to the plans in three major cities and six additional counties, to be selected by the committee, after applications have been received from cities and counties of the state.

Members of the executive committee include: Dr. Charles F. Zarbaugh, Columbus; Prebysterian; Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati; M. E.; Rev. C. W. Brugh, Tiffin, Reformed Church in U. S. A.; Rev. I. J. Cahill, Cleveland, Disciples; Bishop A. R. Clippenger, Dayton, U. B. Rev. W. J. Grimes, Concord, United Presbyterian; Bishop Theodore Irving, Reese, Columbus, Episcopal; Rev. A. W. Jamieson, Rushville, Ind., United Presbyterian and Dr. McD. Howsare, Dayton, Christian.

The conference decided to stress lay evangelism and to build up in the local individual churches, lay workers to engage in personal evangelism.

Co-operating churches will be asked to prepare lists of "prospects" to be ready January, 1927. Bishop Henderson presided of the conference and Rev. B. F. Lamb, Columbus, secretary of the council, acted as conference secretary.

ENDS HIS LIFE

CINCINNATI, June 29.—Dependancy over ill health was assigned by the coroner today as the motive for the suicide of E. C. H. Hiff, supervisor of the Cincinnati Building Commission, who shot and killed himself while motoring near Cincinnati late Monday.

Hiff had been in poor health for some time, according to intimate friends. He was thirty-seven years old.

FLOODS MENACING CITY OF HAMBURG

BERLIN, June 29.—Rising flood waters of the River Elbe today menaced portions of Hamburg, messages from that city said.

Hamburg is the greatest commercial city of continental Europe and has exceeded in maritime trade only by London, Liverpool, and New York. It is on the Elbe about seventy miles from the river's mouth.

HAS NEW POWER

SENATOR FESS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The temporary rout of the farm bloc through abandonment of its plans to shelve all remaining farm bills after defeat of the Haugen measure, has elevated to new power in administration circles a former Ohio school teacher.

He is Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, Ohio, second assistant floor leader. While Floor Leader Curtis, Republican, Kansas and Assistant Floor Leader Jones, Republican, Washington were supporting the Haugen bill, with their votes, Fess took the lead in defeating the bill. Later he played a prominent part in routing the farm bloc, thereby advancing himself to new power.

Fess had a conference with President Coolidge just before the executive publicly recommended the farm bill which forced the farm bloc to retract.

It is certain the Ohio senator fully informed the chief executive as to what was transpiring in the senate and about the plans of farm senators to administer the coup to administration farm bills, of which one was the Fess measure.

CHARTERS SPECIAL FOR CHICAGO TRIP

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, wife of the former president of the International Harvester Company, was speeding toward her home in Chicago on a special Pennsylvania train today.

The train which Mrs. McCormick chartered after arrival from Europe and finding she had missed the Broadway Limited, arrived here at 1:47 a. m. after a record run from New York.

A change of engines was made in five minutes and the train consisting of an engine, one steel coach and a Pullman sped away. Railroad men here who said that the train, exclusive of the Pullman would cost Mrs. McCormick $5,200.87, could assign no reason for her desire to make the quick trip to Chicago.

The run from New York to Pittsburgh was made in twenty-nine minutes less time than is made by the Broadway Limited.

CHARLES PONZI ARRESTED ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE COUNTRY DISGUISED ON SHIP

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Arrested on a steamer as he was about to flee to Europe, Charles Ponzi, Boston's financial "wizard" was being returned here today for New England authorities. Ponzi is under sentence from seven to nine years, as a "common and notorious thief."

Ponzi's head had been shaved and he wore a newly-sprouted mustache when he was arrested, as he stepped from an Italian steamer to a New Orleans dock yesterday.

Clad in the dungaree of a captain's messman aboard the Steves Non Vebis, Ponzi steadfastly denying his identity, speaking labored

TWO RUN DOWN

COLUMBUS, June 29.—Two children were run down and injured by automobiles here late Monday. They were Alfred Cachelone, 11, and Edna Vanmeter, 6. Both will recover, according to physicians.

VICTIMS PINNED IN WRECKAGE; DRIVER UNABLE TO EXPLAIN

Two Women and Man
Hurt But Climb Out
Of Water

NORTH BALTIMORE, O., June 29.—John Holdman, 65, of Findlay and Charles Courtney, 40, of Fostoria, O., were drowned near here today when their automobile plunged into a creek.

Three other occupants of the vehicle were injured. They were Miss Ella Moore, 41, Bellevue, Ohio, Clarence Edwards, 28, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Clara Edwards. All will recover, it was said.

Edwards and his mother said they were from Findlay.

Apparently the accident occurred about 2:30 a. m. Edwards was unable to give any details and authorities here did not learn them immediately. From stories told to the officers, the party, including Edwards and his mother, left the Edwards home last night for a drive.

A bridge spans the creek where the accident occurred and apparently Edwards, who was driving, became confused and drove the automobile into the creek instead of onto the bridge.

Holdman and Courtney were submerged. It was not determined immediately whether they were drowned or died from injuries. Both bodies were crushed.

The two women and Edwards, although painfully injured, managed to scramble ashore.

Edwards subsequently notified police and the bodies of Holdman and Courtney were recovered and brought to the C. A. Coy mortuary here.

EVOLUTION STUDY IS ON THE INCREASE

CLEVELAND, O., June 29 (UP).—Chicago's interest in the 1925 Dayton-Scoops evolution trial as "wonderful advertising," Western Reserve University officials announce that enrollment has doubled at the college in courses dealing with evolution.

"We are experiencing a distinct benefit from the publicity that has been given evolution," Professor J. Paul Vischer declared, adding that the anti-evolution propaganda circulated throughout the country has caused students to "want to know what it's all about."

COMPANY PLANS TO TRANSFER OFFICE

COLUMBUS, June 29.—At least two-thirds of the 700 employees of the Columbus office of the Pure Oil Co. will remain here after Sept. 1, according to H. M. Dawes, president of the company. The offices of the president and vice president and their staffs will be moved to Chicago. All offices of the central distribution division, including Indiana, Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Kentucky and West Virginia will continue to center in Columbus, Dawes said.

English and pretending to barely understand, was taken to a New Orleans hotel, where, after questioning he admitted his identity. The arrest was made by George Lary, deputy sheriff from Houston who had been on Ponzi's trail since last Tuesday.

PATRIOTIC ADDRESS FEATURES SESQUI-CENTENNIAL PROGRAM

County Auditor Wead Pays Tribute To Signers of
Declaration Of Independence—Cadet Band
Gives Concert

County Auditor R. O. Wead spoke on the history of American independence in connection with Xenia's part in the nation-wide celebration of the Sesqui-Centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence Monday night before a large crowd on the Court House lawn.

"America today," he said, "combines the leading characteristics of the cavalier and the moral stamina of the Puritan."

"America," he said in closing, "is founded on the rock-ribbed Puritan and cavalier principles of truth, justice, and morality. If American citizens keep to those early ideals of their forefathers, the country will stand invincible in war and triumphant in peace."

Auditor Wead throughout his address, contrasted the early Puritan and cavalier characteristics, the former scrupulous and strict in his religious life and social requirements, the latter the gay, domineering type, admitting no master and submitting to no oppression.

The auditor paid tribute to the signers of the Declaration of Independence, declaring it was a gigantic task to unite thirteen different states, used to one empire within their boundaries.

Persons in the vicinity asserted they saw Dennis at the bridge at 9 a. m. and that Mrs. Burke soon drove up in an automobile and alighted.

By United Press
WOOSTER, O., June 29.—The Wayne County grand jury today took up charges of collusion and graft in connection with the state's attempt to acquire a site for the new state institution for the feeble minded.

The charges involve Col. Samuel H. Bell of Wooster, holder of options on the Apple Creek site and three state officials—Welfare Director John E. Harper, J. T. Hogsett, chief agriculturist, and J. B. Youngblood, consulting engineer.

S. B. LE SOURD DIES SUDDENLY TUESDAY AT SUMMER COTTAGE

Prominent Business Man
Taken Ill Sunday Night

Silas B. LeSourd, 76, founder of S. B. LeSourd and Co., secretary and director of the Home Building and Savings Co., for twenty-three years and widely known Xenia business man, died at his summer cottage at Lakeside, O., at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning following an attack of acute indigestion last Sunday at midnight which weakened his heart, according to word received by relatives.

He had been in ill health for two months and after undergoing an operation for a cataract on one eye a year ago last September his health began to fail.

Mr. and Mrs. LeSourd had gone to Lakeside for the summer following their annual custom last Wednesday accompanied by the Misses Eleanor McKay and Evelyn Perrill.

H. S. LeSourd and Mrs. S. M. McKay, this city, son and daughter, left by motor for Lakeside Tuesday morning to make preliminary arrangements for funeral services which will probably be held in Xenia Friday.

Mr. LeSourd has been a resident of Xenia for forty-eight years. Coming to Xenia in 1878 he established an insurance business on a small scale after purchasing an agency from William Logan. Admitting F. E. McGervey into partnership in 1880 their business gradually grew in volume and importance.

Upon Mr. McGervey's death in 1903 the S. B. LeSourd and Co. was formed. H. S. LeSourd, his son and S. M. McKay, his son-in-law, were also made members of the firm.

Mr. LeSourd had been engaged in the real estate, insurance and loan business for sixty-eight

SLIGHT QUAKE FELT IN SOUTH GERMANY

BERLIN, June 29.—(UP).—Slight earthquakes shook southern Germany today causing momentary panic in many centers.

No damage has been reported. Residents of Baden ran into the streets when the shocks were felt and in Breisach the populations fear was increased by bricks which fell from copings. In the neighborhood of Lake Constance, pictures were shaken from the walls.

A widespread and in some places severe earthquake shook the eastern and Central Mediterranean area last night.

NEGRO MUST DIE

COLUMBUS, June 29.—Emmanuel Ross, 18-year-old Cleveland negro, must die in the electric chair for the murder of a Cleveland confectioner named Steck, who was shot to death last November, during an attempted holdup, the state supreme court decreed today.

The court, in refusing to review Ross' conviction, announced a date for execution soon will be set.

COMMITTEE IS TOLD MONEY BEING SPENT FOR PRIMARY THERE

Probers May Extend Investigation To Ohio
Is Learned

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A charge that the same interests which financed the $3,000,000 campaign in Pennsylvania are sending money into North Dakota for the Republican primary there tomorrow, was filed with the senate primary investigation committee today by D. H. McArthur, secretary to Senator Gerald P. Nye, entrant in the senatorial race there.

"It is my personal opinion that a huge slush fund has been obtained through administration channels of support, to be expended in North Dakota for the purpose of defeating Senator Nye and sending President Coolidge's campaign manager, L. B. Hanna, to the senate," said McArthur in his statement.

McArthur co-edited Joseph R. Grundy and W. L. Mellon, Republican party leaders in Pennsylvania collected $800,000 for the 1924 Coolidge presidential campaign. Of that amount, he charged $740,000 was sent to North Dakota and other western states to help carry those states for President Coolidge.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The spectacular senate primary investigation today widened further the scope of its inquiry to make it an all-embracing inquiry into national politics.

A decision has been reached not to limit the inquiry to the Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries, but to sit all summer, if need be, to ascertain the political activity of all parties in most of the northern and western states.

Before the committee is through, it expects to dig into reports from Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, North Dakota, Oregon, California, Vermont, Kentucky, Oklahoma, and perhaps other states.

Thousands of letters from those purporting to have information concerning "falsified irregularities" in these districts, have been received by members of the investigating committee.

Closing the third week of investigation today the committee has amassed a voluminous record, the high points of which are: Expenditures of approximately $3,000,000 by the Republican candidates in the Pennsylvania primary.

Revelations of a system of paid poll watchers; financing of campaigns by manufacturers; reports of city employees voting by politicians in power; charges of forgery and fraud in the same race.

Partial opening of the books of the Anti-Saloon League for the first time, showing an average of $500,000 yearly has been spent by that organization. That congressmen and senators are hired to make dry speeches.

Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania has enforced the prohibition law in the last three years from a $130,000 private fund raised by the W. C. T. U. for hiring under-cover agents to make secret liquor purchases and thus furnish information upon which state troopers might make raids.

WESTERVILLE, O., June 29.—Washington investigators continued examining the books and records of the Anti-Saloon League today in connection with disclosures made in Washington by the senate primary investigating committee.

The examinations were made under the direction of Hicklin Yates, secretary of the committee, who was assisted by Elton Tweedale, the committee's special accountant and Roy L. Whitman, official committee reporter.

Hicklin and his associates were aided by Dr. Howard Hyde Russell, associate general superintendent and founder of the league and D. W. Wall, the league's accountant.

The specific object of the examination it was said, is to ferret out primary campaign contributions and their sources.

CINCINNATI, June 29.—Charge of manslaughter was filed today against Albert Schadt, eighteen years old, motorist, who was accused of running down and killing Mrs. Mollie Denison, 68.

BOY KILLED WHEN
CANNON EXPLODES

CINCINNATI, June 29.—One of Cincinnati's first Independence Day casualties was George Klein, 18, who was killed when a toy cannon exploded. Young Klein was attempting to dislodge a dynamite charge with a nail and a hammer, when the cannon exploded. The boy's body was badly torn.

MILITARY TRAINING ATTACKED BY PACIFIST ORGANIZATIONS; DEFENDED BY WAR SECRETARY

By FREDERICK J. LIBBY

(Written for the United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 29, (UP)—Military training in schools and colleges, especially when compulsory, is under heavy fire from leading educators in the United States and from our churches.

Boston University has just abolished the compulsory feature. The University of Wisconsin, a land grant college, did so two years ago. Nebraska proposes to take a state referendum on the subject in the November elections following the refusal of the State Regents to heed a protest from students in the State University.

Majorities of students in Cornell, in Ohio State University, and in the College of the City of New York have petitioned the authorities to remove the compulsory. Among the college presidents that condemn military training for school boys are President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, President Harry A. Garfield of Williams College, President Wm. H. Faunce of Brown University, President Wm. T. Porter of Reed College, and President Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch College.

The Cleveland Board of Education, from nationalist organizations, from Hon. Newton D. Baker and Senator Pomeroy, and voted six to one to abolish it. The high school principals of Massachusetts in April voted 300 to 9, according to press dispatches, against the continuance of military training in Massachusetts schools or its development in any way, shape or form.

The Northern Baptist Convention the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church through its Administrative Committee, have all within a month taken their stand against compulsory military training. The Federal Council goes further and condemns any "systematic and technical military training for youths of high school age."

It will be observed that the attacks focus on two phases of the question, the compulsory feature in colleges and all military training in high schools.

The case against military training in high schools can be summed up as follows:

It militarizes the thinking of immature boys, leading them to rely on force rather than on reason and making them chafe when opposed personally or nationally. It gives boys the impression that wars are natural and inevitable at a time when the world is seeking a rational method of settling international disputes. It has confessedly no military value in a highly technical profession. It is no substitute for physical training such as one gets from gymnastics and group games. The obedience it teaches is not obedience in general but obedience to a Sam Brown belt. Its discipline is not self-discipline but external repression under the watchful eye of an inspecting officer. It does not teach all-round good citizenship as scouting does nor prepare a boy for service to his community in time of peace.

The case against forcing boys in high school and college to take military training against their will is even more convincing. Conscription is peace-time is universally recognized as un-American, a European practice condemned by our founders and justly hated by the American people. It is an infringement of private conscience unjustified by any present plea of national necessity.

The whole present emphasis of the War Department on military training is believed, on excellent and sufficient grounds, to have as its purpose, not directly the saving of life in war,—for the courses are too elementary to do that,—but military propaganda looking towards the progressive militarization of the youth. The time to stop this process, which could only end in war and world disaster, is now.

By DWIGHT F. DAVIS

Secretary of War
(Written for the United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 29 (UP)—Between 1921 and 1925 over 217,000 youths applied for the training afforded by the Citizens' Military Training Camps; the funds and facilities available permitted the enrollment of but 127,000. Applications for the establishment of units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are now on file in the War Department.

ment from over fifty high schools and colleges; the War Department has neither the personnel nor the financial means to approve these applications.

Enrollment in the Citizens' Military Training Camps is purely voluntary on the part of the youth. Requests for the establishment of units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are made by the authorities of the institutions concerned. It is believed that these unfilled requests prove conclusively the appreciation of the value of military training by the people of the country.

The demand comes from the people themselves. The War Department is having the greatest difficulty in maintaining its present schedule of citizen soldier training with the funds, personnel, and facilities available. It could not honor further requests for such training, even if it were desirous of so doing. And yet we hear frequent charges that the War Department is attempting to foist military training, if not militarism, on the people of the country.

I have my own very earnest convictions on the value of military training in the teaching of self-respect and self-reliance, in the building of healthy bodies and healthy minds, in the promotion of democracy and broadmindedness, and in the inculcation of virile American citizenship. But as I might be considered an interested party in this matter, I will let the authorities of two institutions which have established military training speak for me.

"For seventeen years we have had a military organization at Saint Thomas College," states Father Cullen. "Its benefits to the students, both physically and mentally, are, in our experience, undoubted. Young men come to us awkward in gait, stooped in shoulders, and inert. In the course of one semester they acquire an agility of step, and a straightness of stature that shall constitute for them a valuable asset in whatever vocation they may enter."

Henry Suzallo, President of the University of Washington, stated in 1921: "I might tell you that I don't believe I ever stood up straight in my life until I took military training. I might tell you that it was as a cadet on long hikes that I first sensed great responsibility for the care of others under me. I might indicate that it was military training which first developed my sense of the importance of human coordination and cooperation, of getting big things done by team-play or mass work where they couldn't be gotten by individual actions. These are only a few of the great character lessons which may be garnered from the military department. I speak about them somewhat passionately because I know from personal experience what military training can do for you."

FORMER STUDENT AT SEMINARY IS DEAD

Word has been received of the death of the Rev. Charles E. Newcomb, former student at Xenia Theological Seminary, who graduated in the 90's which occurred at his home in Corsicana, Tex., Monday, June 21.

The Rev. Mr. Newcomb was formerly pastor at York, Pa., Garnett, Kan., and Tulsa, Okla. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Josephine Craig Newcomb, who resided here for a time after their marriage.

SNAKE SWALLOWS SNAKE FOR CLASS

HAYS, Kans., June 29—A snake swallowed another equally as large as a free exhibition for a college class in zoology during a class period at the Hays State Teachers' College here.

Prof. L. B. Wooster, of the biology department, placed a king snake and a blue racer of almost exactly the same size into a glass cage. He then invited his laboratory class to watch the performance.

Without any preliminaries the king snake promptly wrapped himself about the blue racer and commenced to swallow his companion. The "meal" required about two hours in the taking.

Health Hints
by the
Father of Physical Culture

The more perfect and pure the condition of the blood, the greater the vitality, and the more active the circulation, the more satisfactorily will the bones be nourished, and under such conditions of good health they will improve if they have been below par in size and strength before the inception of the good habits which have brought about this good health. If they were already fully developed, then no change in size will be apparent, although they may be improved in quality and strength. A vigorous muscular condition is invariably accompanied with the active circulation that helps to keep all other tissues at their best. Laying aside all comparisons of muscular development, the bones of the athlete are far stronger than those of the sedentary worker; his tendons are tougher and his ligaments less easily torn; his nerves are less susceptible to shock. Men who play football develop such hardihood that they can not only endure with impunity what might almost kill the average man of business, but when they are injured they do not require so much time in which to mend. Their bones knit more rapidly, wrenched tendons and lacerated ligaments recover in surprisingly short time, while bumps and bruises which others might feel for a week seem to disappear over night. Such are the advantages of a vigorous physical condition, whether acquired by football or by less strenuous and more effective methods which we are teaching. The bones, like all other tissues of the body, may be influenced in this way.

If one really desires to enlarge a particular bone, he can do so by subjecting it to repeated and long-continued strain. If it has a slight wrist and wishes to strengthen and enlarge it, he could do so by working as a bricklayer for two or three years, or by persistent practice of exercises which place a decided strain upon the wrist without injuring it. Bricklayers and blacksmiths all have good wrists. Mountaineers all have stout knees and sturdy limbs. A continuous life on the mountains climbing, hunting and struggling over rocky passes, would strengthen anybody's legs, with reference to both muscles and bones.

CHURCH RECEPTION

FOR MRS. D. D. DODDS.

The poet Lowell was responsible for the expression, "What is so rare as a day in June" and this was verified Monday when women of the First United Presbyterian Church, almost to a unit, met in the church parlors to render tribute to Mrs. D. D. Dodds, wife of the former pastor of the congregation on her return from the meeting of the Woman's General Missionary Society, Monmouth, Ill.

The church parlors were transformed into a bower of beauty with clusters of white lilies, roses and delphinium combined with flags to carry out the approach of Independence Day.

No formal program was arranged the afternoon being turned over to a general "get-together." The occasion was a thoroughly enjoyed by seventy persons. A delightful menu, prepared by the First Division of the Ladies Aid Society, with Mrs. Jeanette Ervin, chairman and Mrs. E. C. Moorman, her assistant, was served by that division, including a number of the young women of the congregation.

Constipation leaves its marks upon the face. Its terrible poisons, which lead to over forty serious diseases, cause pimples, hollow cheeks, sallow skin, circles under the eyes, poor circulation, cold hands and feet. It causes unpleasant breath too.

Rid your body of this frightful disease. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN has brought health to thousands when all else has failed. The reason—it is ALL-BRAN—100% bran! That is why doctors recommend it. It takes ALL-BRAN to be wholly effective.

Try it! If eaten regularly, Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve the most stubborn cases or your grocer returns the purchase price.

Eat two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. You will like its nut-like flavor. Try the recipe on every package. Sprinkle it over other cereals.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan, and served by leading restaurants. Sold by all grocers.

SPIRIT OF AMERICA SUBJECT OF SPEECH

"The spirit of determination, a vital part in the spirit of America, is exemplified or illustrated by the great achievements in industrial, scientific and military lines of activity," declared the Rev. W. P. Harman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, formerly the Reform Presbyterian Church, Cedarville, in his address "The Spirit of America" at Xenia Rotary Club, Elk's Lodge, Tuesday noon.

"This spirit of determination is only secondary to the all-absorbing spirit of America, which includes the elements of liberty, union, and a quality of brotherhood," he continued.

"These various elements are fruits of our outstanding national experiences," he pointed out, illustrating with events of the Revolutionary, Civil and World Wars.

"This spirit has given to us our great national leaders and secured for us the privileges which we as citizens enjoy."

"The spirit needs to be applied in the solution of the present problems such as labor and capital, immigration, the colored race and international relations," he concluded.

EAST END NEWS

The Edith Randolph Prayer Circle held its regular weekly meeting at the home of Mrs. Belle Tibbs, E. Main St., with a good attendance.

All members and applicants of The Charles Young Auxiliary No. 58, will meet Wednesday, June 30th, 8 p. m., in the assembly room of the Court House. By order of the president.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Talbert, of Detroit, Mich., and daughters, Francis and Florence, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Scott, were week end guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Scurry, E. Main St.

Master Kenneth Johnson, of Wilberforce, is the guest this week of relatives and friends here.

LARGE ATTENDANCE PLANNED AT SCHOOL

Contrary to reports to the effect that the Greene County Normal School would be discontinued next year, H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, announced Tuesday that the attendance would be larger than ever before and elaborate plans are being laid for the coming year's work.

A number have already enrolled in the school and others have signified their intention of doing so. To take care of the large increase in attendance, the State Department of Education has granted an assistant normal director. Neither the director or assistant has as yet been appointed.

It is understood Miss Susanne Koehler, director of the school since its inception, has taken a position as supervising principal of elementary work in Cleveland, O., schools.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "p. sic" was necessary.

ACTUAL CLEANLINESS

There are degrees of cleanliness as of purity. One may say if a thing is pure it is pure, and that's all there is to it. But that is not all there is to it, as has been demonstrated by a baking powder company in this country. In its advertising, as on the cans in which its product is contained, it was not content simply to say that its product was pure. Instead, it emphasized its purity by characterizing it as "absolutely pure," and newspapers under the name of this baking powder, brought millions of dollars profit to its manufacturers. The company meant chemically pure, no doubt. The public bought its powder, used in food, because absolutely pure meant to it absolutely clean.

Absolute cleanliness of body is extremely rare. Perhaps not one person in a million ever is entirely clean all over, for there are degrees of cleanliness. A man thinks he is clean after a hot bath, but a surgeon does not regard him clean for his purpose. To be "surgically clean" is quite different from what we commonly regard as cleanliness of our persons. When a surgeon washes his hands twenty minutes, while a nurse scrubs that part of the body on which an operation is to be performed, we get a new idea of cleanliness.

Unfortunately all physicians do not take the precautions for cleanliness which the surgeon does. Many a new mother has been robbed not only of the joys of motherhood, but of her life, by infection from the dirty (surgically speaking) hands of the doctor in attendance. Beware the doctor or the dentist, who has a dirty office or who begins his explorations of sore places without cleansing his hands and taking scientific precautions against infecting his patient. Such professional men are dangerous. They are often in contact with infectious diseases, possibly with one just before you take the chair. When Bacon wrote that "cleanliness of body was ever esteemed to proceed from a due reverence to God, to society, and to ourselves," he covered important ground.

Today's Talk

A GENTLEMAN

Never gossips or slanders.

Never takes unfair advantage of another.

Is never mean in disputes, but always fair and generous.

Never gives out sharp sayings for argument.

Bears no malice.

Is kind to another intellect inferior to his own.

Always just.

lowed and darkened. Can it be made white again?"

Answer: Yes, it can be bleached as follows: Scrub with strong soapuds containing one-half cup of salt and two ounces of bleaching powder (chloride of lime) to the gallon. Apply with stiff scrubbing brush and do not let mixture touch hand or clothing. Place the furniture in the open air to dry. Reed and rattan in the natural color may also be bleached in this way.

Young Couple: "We are dreaming of building our own home, some day, and are amusing ourselves drawing our own house plans! Shouldn't we build it around our furniture—that is, have spaces in certain rooms which will take our large pieces of furniture easily?"

Answer: If your furniture will last you for years, that is a good plan. Be sure to have a space where your bed may stand with out facing the light, and another where your bureau or dressing table may stand so that the person dressing before it will be in a strong light. The piano is another important piece to take into consideration.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—"After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RISSINGER, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose?

Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares.

Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away.

Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and sure health is cause enough for happiness.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

That is what a Check Book is to the modern housewife or business woman.

It serves in place of keeping a large amount of ready cash on hand with which to pay bills. It serves as the receipt of any financial transaction. It serves as an undeniable record of money paid out. And last but not least, it is handy and a time saver.

So why not start a Checking Account with us today? Come in and talk it over.

Greene County History

BOWERSVILLE POST OFFICE

Peter Bowermaster, first postmaster in Bowersville, was commissioned February 12, 1848 and held the office until his death November 3, 1859. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1787 and had been a resident of Greene County since 1810, serving in the war of 1812 with one of the volunteer companies organized in the county.

While he was postmaster the office was on a star route running between Jamestown and Reeseville. Mail was carried between the two villages once a week on horseback—or sometimes on foot—by Christopher H. Stewart.

After Bowermaster's death, his son, Reason A., applied for the position and was granted a commission December 12, 1859. He held it a number of years and gave way to John Haughey shortly after the Civil War.

Mail is now delivered to the office by rural carriers from Jamestown on the north and Sabina on the south.

The railroad no longer carries mail to the town, although for a number of years after it was opened in the latter part of the seventies, it did.

Just Folks

BY EDGAR A. QUEST

EVENING

The twilight falls, and the tasks are done,

And the garden glows in the setting sun;

The martins sweep on their last few flights,

And there comes the calm of God's Summer nights,

Then it seems that the blossoms bend to pray

At the glorious close of another day.

In that lovely hour when the dusk slips down

A hush comes over the noisy town;

I hear the whistle of old Bob White,

And it seems to me that he says, "Good night!"

The wrens slip into their house nearby,

And alone in the lowering dusk am I.

In the evening hour when the shadows fall

Comes a touch divine to my garden small;

I stand in silence a moment there

And fancy the blossoms are bowed in prayer.

I catch a beauty of plant and flower

That is only there in that evening hour.

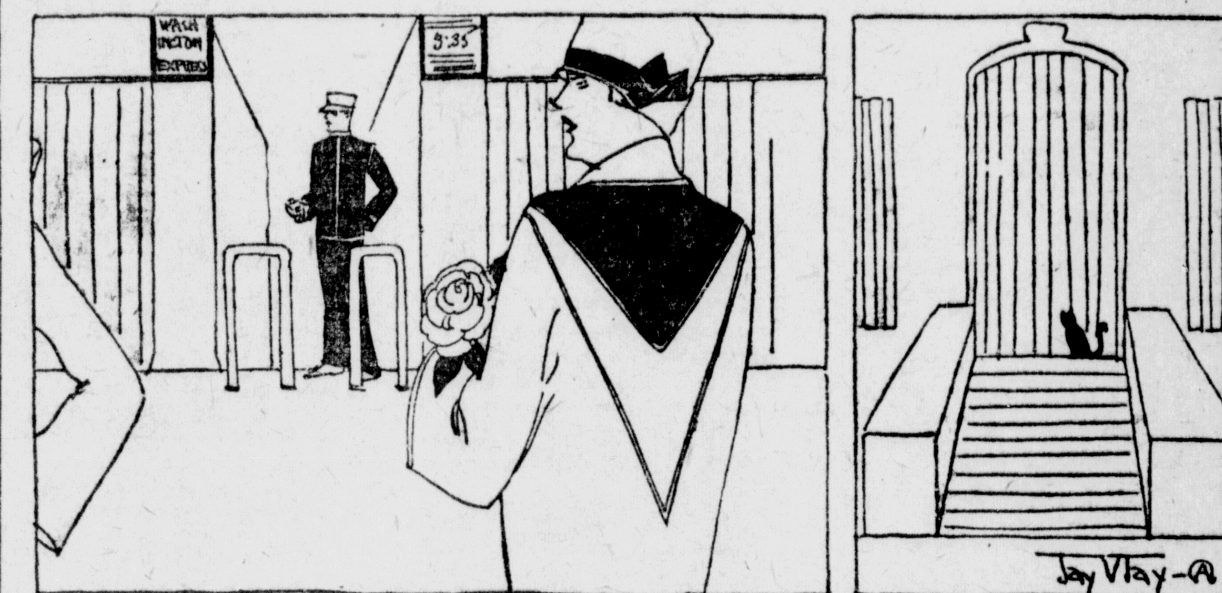

Bed-Bugs—Smothered by Liquid Fire

A liquid fire applied to bed-bugs, roaches and fleas! That's the new chemical discovery—P. D. Q. Can do no damage to your springs or furniture; won't rot or stain clothing. P. D. Q. is used and recommended by leading hotels, hospitals and railroads as the quickest and safest way of getting rid of pesky insects. Instantly it smothers and kills the living creatures, coats their eggs, and stops them from hatching and multiplying. A 35c package of this golden chemical will make a quart of mixture—so deadly it will kill a million bed-bugs, P. D. Q. can also be had in double-strength liquid form—ready for use. Free patent spoon enables you to reach hard-to-get-at places with ease. Get P. D. Q. at your druggist today. Your money back, if the bugs are not gone tomorrow.

Modish Mitzi

THE FIRST STOP WILL BE WASHINGTON

By Jay V. Jay

Since Mitzi's trip is designed expressly for the purpose of broadening Mitzi's education it seems eminently proper that she start from Washington. Oddly enough, the Goofy has just had an urgent business call to Washington himself.

He is telling Mitzi all about it and Mitzi is hoping that he won't be too busy to help them out when they need an escort and Dad is tired. The Goofy, gazing with unseeing eyes at Mitzi's smart traveling coat, assures her fervently that he will make time!

Polly's traveling costume is topped by a coat of twill lined with polka dotted silk which is also used for a scarf. Her hat is of two shades of felt (see the scallops around the crown). Aunt Sophia's coat has a V shaped trimming line in back.

This is the family home and from the way it is boarded up you may surmise that Dad isn't going back to the comfort of his pet easy chair for a long while. Even this stray cat seems to know that there is no danger of being shot or snatched away!

ONE THIRD OF HOME PUPILS NEED MEDICAL ATTENTION IS FOUND

One-third of pupils at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home here need medical or surgical attention, according to findings of the four-weeks survey just completed, Dr. A. C. Messenger, of Xenia, acting resident physician, announced.

Recommendations of state health authorities and advice given Home officials regarding care of the children will be given immediate attention, it was announced at the close of the examination.

Col. C. H. Robbins, epidemiologist of the State Health Department was chief examiner, assisted by members of his staff: Dr. Van Orsdell, Dr. Tate, Dr. Mahoney, Dr. Frank, chief of the tuberculosis division and the chief examiner of hospitals for the state department and Mr. Eye, bacteriologist for that department. The staff brought two nurses, Miss Donning and Miss Shrimplin and the resident physician, also assisted in the survey.

A thorough examination of the 603 children was made including a blood test of each. The children range from three to eighteen years of age.

Investigation showed that 233 had defective teeth, 173 were under weight, 145 had defective eyes and vision, forty-two had defective tonsils and thirty-eight had defective ears or hearing. Other minor ailments were found, but these were the most pronounced. None of the children were sick, but to measure up to perfect health, require medical or surgical attention for some defect.

WITTENBERG GRID MEN TO HOLD CAMP

The prospective Wittenberg College football squad for this fall, some forty strong, is to congregate at John Bryans Riverside farm near Yellow Springs for a summer camping period beginning August 29.

The boys will live together on that part of the tract now used for a Boy Scout encampment by the Springfield council for two weeks returning to Springfield September 15 to report for first practice the following day.

Members of the squad will be put through daily exercises to condition them for the long grind ahead this fall. The camp idea was originated by Captain "Red" Armstrong who will have charge of the boys in the absence of Coaches Godfred and Trautwein. Equipment used by the Scouts has been procured for the gridgers.

Miss A. Chakardic Tells How Cuticura Healed Skin Trouble

"I was troubled with a breaking out on my face and hands. It itched and burned so that at night I would lie awake for hours and scratch. Scratching caused eruptions that disfigured my face. I could not do my work on account of the breaking out on my hands. The trouble lasted about a month.

"I used other remedies but none of them seemed to be of any use. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Anna Chakardic, 109 Hadley St., Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18, 1925.

Make Cuticura Soap and Ointment your every-day toilet preparations and have a clear, sweet skin, soft, smooth hands and a healthy scalp with good hair. Cuticura-Talcum is unexcelled in purity.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

What is a Real Tire Test?

Questions and Answers that may be News to You—by a Tire Engineer of the United States Rubber Company

Question—With 20,000,000 cars running in America, does not the experience of users largely take the place of factory tests?

Answer—On the contrary. The very fact that motor transportation is so important in the life of every one imposes an additional obligation for searching tests on the tire manufacturer. The makers of United States Tires do not expect their customers to test their tires for them.

Question—What does the United States Rubber Company Factory Test include?

Answer—Everything from the Tree to the finished Tire. Raw materials are tested before they go into the tires, and the finished tires are tested in the Company's laboratories and on the Company's road test cars, trucks and buses. They are also watched in actual commercial service.

Question—What do these tests prove?

Answer—The material tests insure the quality of material used. The laboratory and road tests of complete tires "prove up" the correctness of manufacturing processes.

Question—What raw materials are tested?

Answer—Cotton cord, which furnishes the strength and flexibility of the tire; rubber, which binds the various parts of the tire together and forms the tread or wearing surface; compounding ingredients, which we mix with the rubber to give it the necessary qualities; and, steel wire, which is used in making the beads of the tire.

Question—What tests are made on the cord?

Answer—Cord going into the manufacture of Web Cord for United States Tires is tested for strength, stretch, size, twist, ply, length of staple, and freedom from imperfections.

Question—What tests are made on Rubber?

Answer—Even though the quality and uniformity of Sprayed Rubber is controlled by the processes used on our plantations in the Far East, every shipment received at our factories is again tested for uniformity and also, after mixing with sulphur, it is tested for its rate of vulcanization, its tensile strength and stretch.

Question—What tests are made of compounding ingredients?

Answer—Compounding ingredients are tested to determine their purity and uniformity. They are practically all in powder form and even the degree of fineness to which they have been ground is tested.

Question—What tests are made on Steel Wire?

Answer—Steel wire is given a chemical analysis to determine whether it meets our specifications, and it is also tested for tensile strength and elongation.

Question—Are United States Tires tested alongside of other makes?

Answer—Yes. These tests are conducted daily in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles.

Question—What is the object of these competitive tests?

Answer—To maintain the superiority of our design and construction.

Question—Does the fact that a large number of tires of a certain design and construction have given satisfactory service obviate the necessity for further tests on tires of the same kind?

Answer—No. Vehicle design and use, and road conditions are constantly changing. Tires that gave excellent satisfaction ten years ago are obsolete today in design and construction.

Question—How does the United States Rubber Company keep abreast of these constantly changing conditions?

Answer—It has a corps of factory trained technical experts in different sections of the country, continually checking the service our tires are rendering under actual operating conditions.

Question—Do all companies test their tires in this way?

Answer—Most all companies make tests of some sort. Very few, if any, carry them to the extent that they are carried by the United States Rubber Company.

"Not Possible To Classify" By Mack Sauer

Well, the other night I heard an address over the radio which was delivered by Calvin Coolidge. The speech was divided into three parts—(1) Economy. (2) Economy. (3.) Economy.

Coolidge impresses me as being a man to whom I would hate to owe money.

ECONOMICAL CAL

"Calvin Coolidge to me"
Said Hiram Root,
"Is a man who buys
A two pants suit."

Coolidge is a man of few words, the best known of which are "economy," "economy" and "tax reduction." He has already chosen the subject for his Armistice Day speech. He will talk on economy.

Coolidge is so economical that he wants to get rid of some of the useless clerks they have around Washington. May I suggest they either poison or shoot about half the United States senators they have there. Coolidge should give some of them a talking to—of course he would talk on economy.

PITY THE WIFE

If there's anything
Bore Mrs. Calvin C.,
It's Cal's long talks
On Economy.

The latest one on Coolidge is the story going the rounds to the effect that he had to borrow a nickel from one of the guards the other day to pay for a magazine he purchased. This must not go on. Our president must have some change.

Coolidge may not be as hard down in his heart as he is pictured, but he is hard up, that's certain. We hear he is writing a book. The title of the book is "Economy."

IN THE MOVIES

Went to the movie
And what did I see?
Why, our president
In "Economy."

They do have some empty office buildings, some empty chairs and plenty of empty heads in Washington. And they do say one whiff of Vice President Dawes' pipe will make any one see why this country needs a good five cent cigar.

Cal may reduce taxes, but he is not reducing the president's term any. You'll find him in the White House six years from now. And I can picture him giving his inaugural address two years from now. He will speak on economy.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY
ROSILYN PAGE, pathetic wistful hard-worked daughter of a Long Island Innkeeper, has burning aspirations for a fuller and more beautiful existence. Wealthy New Yorkers come yearly to her father's inn for the duck-shooting, but she dislikes them all except one young society fellow.

LANDIS RIDGWAY, handsome and distinguished, well-used to the ways of the world, and at present in serious financial difficulties. For ten years he has come down at intervals to the Long Island inn to hunt, and has always been kind to the lonely, over-worked young woman. He is in love with a beautiful society girl.

LYDIA HARBROOK, who values money far above love. Lydia, one night calls on Landis while he is staying at the inn, and swears she still loves him although she plans to marry.

STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue.

Rosilyn who is tending her sick father, overhears the conversation between Landis and Lydia.

CHAPTER 7

FORTUNE'S TURN

At dawn the soul of Rosilyn's father went to its account. The day brought curious neighbors, simple folk who had never cared for the hard-hearted Innkeeper, but who were sorry for his daughter.

The sportsmen departed, all save Landis Ridgway. For a reason that he could not fathom—unless, subconsciously, he realized a kinship in their mutual wretchedness—he stayed on, to render Rosilyn what help he might.

A farmer's wife stayed too. On the third day was the funeral and thereafter the village attorney, in company with Landis, who was in the same profession, went through the dead man's papers.

Sheer incredulity was followed by an almost stunned astonishment. For it transpired that old Bill Page, who had lived as frugally as any immigrant and never been known to give away a nickel or to help a fellow-creature in distress, was rich—immensely, unbelievably rich.

"Everything the old boy touched turned to gold," announced the astounded Landis, going through gilded securities, bonds and endless papers. "He's played the market to good purpose. Just look at this—and this—and this!"

The local attorney sat with him at the open safe.

"Odd, isn't it?" went on the latter, with a short laugh. "Fate always favours those to whom her favours are no real good. And—conversely—look at me! I'm damned unlucky. When I sell short the stock goes up and up—and when I'm long, it tumbles."

"There is no will," said the attorney thoughtfully. "So everything goes to the daughter. The poor child has had a miserable life. This is her compensation."

Landis' jaw dropped. "Jehosaphat! And she's never been anywhere, or seen anything. She won't know what to do with it."

"Lots of people will be glad to help her," said the older man with a cynical smile. "Rich young women aren't friendless long."

"Damn that old miser! The girl's had no advantages. He worked her like a slave."

"And now others will 'work' her—in a different sense. Heaven help the child!" The lawyer rose. "Where is she? We must tell her of her altered circumstances."

"I'll leave that to you," The young man strode out into the keen cold sunshine, feeling his mission at an end. It was one thing to befriend a tragically lonely and unhappy girl, but quite another matter to dance attendance on an heiress. Fortune had reversed the situation.

He would go up to town tonight. He was no longer needed.

When he returned, he packed his bags and went out to the garage for his car. He was tinkling with the engine when he heard a voice behind him.

"Mr. Ridgway, I want to thank you for being so wonderfully kind—for helping me. I don't quite know what I'd done without you."

He wheeled around, to see Rosilyn Page in the open doorway, her shabby black gown making her pale face seem even paler.

"Oh, it was nothing. I'm just off to New York."

Her big eyes widened reproachfully.

"Without even telling me? And—and you haven't asked about my plans—or anything?"

"This is the new Rosilyn talking," he thought grimly. "The old Rosilyn never would have ventured two such questions. Already she is emerging from her shell."

Aloud he said:

"I must congratulate you on your altered...." his mind groped for the adequate word—"circumstances." Then hurriedly and consciously of a blunder in taste: "Your father's death was of course a great shock. He could not truthfully say calamity! But now—now you will be free to set forth on the Great Adventure, won't you? Only four days ago when we had our talk down by the water, neither of us dreamt how soon—" He broke off awkwardly, seeing the girl's eyes full of tears.

"Perhaps it was a judgment on me—his death! I should not have talked the way I did," she said un- evenly.

Landis made a little gesture of dissent. "Don't let your conscience run away with you. You were the most dutiful daughter in the world. You can have no regrets on that score."

What a queer girl she was, to be so unmoved by the knowledge of her amazing inheritance! How different from ever yother woman, he knew!

Tomorrow—Tenderness She Had Never Heard Before.

MRS. EMMA MAHER DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Emma J. Maher, 54, died suddenly at her home, 18 Dayton Ave., Monday night at 10:15 o'clock. Mrs. Maher was taken ill downtown and was taken to her home where she died soon after. Dr. Paul D. Espey was with her when she died and every attempt was made to save her life. She had been in ill health for some time.

Mrs. Maher reached her fifty-fourth birthday June 10. She was born near New Jasper and always lived in the vicinity of Xenia. She resided with her brother, William H. Thornburg. Mrs. Maher was a member of the Second U. P. Church and Daughters of Pochontas Lodge.

Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock last time, with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

PAUL BOXWELL FIRST CANDIDATE TO JOIN COMPANY L IN DRIVE

Paul Boxwell, athletic director at the O. S. and S. O. Home, was the first man to enlist as the recruiting drive opened Monday for Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, in connection with the local celebration of National Guard Week.

Boxwell launched the first football team in the history of the Home last fall and under his direction, it enjoyed a successful season. He is an Ohio State University man, attending during 1923 and 1924 and was sergeant in the R. O. T. C. at that time. He also teaches in the geometry department at the Home.

Boxwell will take charge of athletics of the company, and under his leadership, the Xenia national guard unit expects to put one of the fastest basketball teams of this locality on the court next season.

Fourteen vacancies in the company still exist and other young men, graduates of high school and colleges with marked ability in football, basketball and other sports are now expected to follow Boxwell's lead and become members, making it a unit of one of the highest types in the state. All prospective members must be passed upon by the recruiting committee before being accepted in line with a policy of obtaining only the best material.

The Armory, on E. Main St., will be open for public inspection every night this week and men in uniform will be present to conduct visitors through the departments and answer questions.

An officer will also be on duty to receive applications for enlistment.

Company L is also contemplating placing a football eleven in the field next fall and with Boxwell as coach, hopes to enjoy a successful season.

DRAMA SCHOOL TEACHES WOMEN ART OF SITTING GRACEFULLY

One of the first things students learn, on entering a dramatic art class, whether it be in Xenia or in the Theatre Guild, New York, is to sit down and remain seated, gracefully. The vast majority of women, dramatic art coaches have found, no matter how graceful they may be in other ways, don't know how to sit correctly.

Pupils of Miss Jean B. Elwell, English and dramatic instructor in Central High School for a number of years, who coaches the Dramatic Art Class of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club, learn this lesson. Cross the legs? No, never, the students are told, unless, of course they are doing a character part which requires them to portray a "sporty" type of woman. Sit pigeon-toed? Well, yes—when doing an awkward, ill-at-ease character.

The correct way to sit down is to go down gracefully and with such perfect balance that you wouldn't fall if the chair were suddenly removed as you were to put your weight on it. Students are never allowed to "drop" into a chair—that indicates age and hopelessness, they are told. While they sit in the chair, they keep their feet in an easy, straight-forward position, one still in advance of the other, so that they could get up and walk without shifting the position of their feet.

Of course they must sit erect in their chairs, with hands resting gracefully in their laps. Never must the hands be folded across the chest, for to do so makes an awkward line.

If you are sitting while you are reading this—well—how do you qualify?

STUDENTS MEMBERS OF CHURCHES, SAID

COLUMBUS, June 29.—If college students of today are the godless lot some of their self-appointed critics would have the world believe, the annual religious census at Ohio State University, just made public, does anything but help to prove the charge.

More than five students in every six, of the 9963 in the university during the fall, winter and spring quarters of 1925-6, the official census shows, professed allegiance to a specific denomination, church or creed. The exact proportion was 85.3 per cent. And of the 1463 students who gave no church affiliations, it was pointed out, some undoubtedly were church-goers.

Methodists, were the most numerous, with 2753. Presbyterians ranked second with 1342 followed in order by the Catholics of whom there were 661; Jewish 587; Lutheran 520; Episcopal 338; Baptist 336; Congregational 327; Church of Christ 250 and Christian 210.

A total of forty-nine other denominations were accounted for in the census, the report showed.

CAMP WILL ATTRACT 100 BOYS AND GIRLS

About 100 boys and girls of the county will enter the camp at Afton Glen, managed by the Fairview Bureau, July 19-24 for a stay of one week. An interesting program has been arranged for the campers, under charge of A. A. Neff, Smith Hughes teacher at Beaver Creek High School. The young people will be chaperoned by five or six adults who will join in the week's good times.

WORKMAN CRUSHED BY TRUCK DIES

DORSEY HESSER, 40,
FALLS UNDER WHEEL
OF HEAVY VEHICLE

Accident Occurs At Paving
Job Near Spring
Valley

Dorsey J. Hesser, 40, Ada, O., employe of Bish and Carey, Ada contractors, on the Cincinnati Pike paving job south of Spring Valley, died at McClellan Hospital at 9:30 p. m. Monday, four hours after he was run over by a heavy company truck which was picking up workmen at quitting time.

According to fellow workmen who could hardly account for the accident, Hesser evidently stumbled or lost his hold as he boarded the truck. One wheel passed over his abdomen. He did not lose consciousness.

Coroner R. L. Haines, Jamestown, was to hold an inquest Tuesday morning or afternoon into the death.

The accident occurred at about 5:30 p. m. at the junction of the Cincinnati Pike and Spring Valley and Roxanna Road, two miles south of Spring Valley.

Hesser was employed as a steam roller operator.

At quitting time an empty truck moved along the pike picking up employes to take them to camp for the night.

The body was taken to the J. H. Whitmer funeral parlors, this city and will be removed to his home in Ada Tuesday for burial.

Two brothers both of Ada, one named Charles, arrived in Xenia at 3:30 a. m. Tuesday but left almost immediately for home again to arrange for funeral services.

Hesser is unmarried and is survived by three brothers, one of whom lives in Tennessee, and one sister.

PROTESTANTS WILL DISCUSS PLANS FOR EVANGELISM DRIVE

Every Protestant An
Evangelist Is Campaign Slogan

COLUMBUS, O., June 29.—Plans to make every Ohio Protestant an evangelist, were announced today at a conference of state Protestant denominations here.

The conference approved a working arrangement and named a committee to organize evangelical plans for the campaign, to begin and end with the Lenten season in 1927.

Efforts would be centered particularly according to the plans in three major cities and six additional counties, to be selected by the committee, after applications have been received from cities and counties of the state.

Members of the executive committee include: Dr. Charles F. Zarbaugh, Columbus, Presbyterians; Bishop Theodore S. Henderson, Cincinnati, M. E.; Rev. C. W. Brugh, Tiffin, Reformed Church in U. S. A.; Rev. I. J. Cahill, Cleveland, Disciples; Bishop A. R. Clippinger, Dayton, U. B.; Rev. W. J. Grimes, Concord, United Presbyterian; Bishop Theodore Irving, Reese, Columbus, Episcopal; Rev. A. W. Jamieson, Rushville, Ind., United Presbyterian and Dr. McD. Housare, Dayton, Christian.

The conference decided to stress lay evangelism and to build up in the local individual churches, lay workers to engage in personal evangelism.

Co-operating churches will be asked to prepare lists of "prospects" to be ready January, 1927.

Bishop Henderson presided at the conference and Rev. B. F. Lamb, Columbus, secretary of the council, acted as conference secretary.

ENDS HIS LIFE

CINCINNATI, June 29.—Dependancy over ill health was assigned by the coroner today as the motive for the suicide of E. C. Hilt, supervisor of the Cincinnati Building Commission, who shot and killed himself while motoring near Cincinnati late Monday.

Hilt had been in poor health for some time, according to intimate friends. He was thirty-seven years old.

FLOODS MENACING CITY OF HAMBURG

BERLIN, June 29.—Rising flood waters of the River Elbe today menaced portions of Hamburg, messages from that city said.

Hamburg is the greatest commercial city of continental Europe and is exceeded in maritime trade only by London, Liverpool, and New York. It is on the Elbe about seventy miles from the river's mouth.

HAS NEW POWER

SENATOR FESS

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The temporary rout of the farm bloc through abandonment of its plans to shelve all remaining farm bills after defeat of the Haugen measure, has elevated to new power in administration circles a former Ohio school teacher.

He is Senator Simeon D. Fess, Republican, Ohio, second assistant floor leader. While Floor Leader Curtis, Republican, Kansas and Assistant Floor Leader Jones, Republican, Washington were supporting the Haugen bill, with their votes, Fess took the lead in defeating the bill. Later he played a prominent part in routing the farm bloc, thereby advancing himself to new power.

Fess had a conference with President Coolidge just before the executive publicly recommended the farm bill which forced the farm bloc to retract.

It is certain the Ohio senator fully informed the chief executive as to what was transpiring in the senate and about the plans of farmer senators to administer the coup to administration farm bills, of which one was the Fess measure.

CHARTERS SPECIAL FOR CHICAGO TRIP

PITTSBURGH, June 29.—Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, wife of the former president of the International Harvester Company, was speeding toward her home in Chicago on a special Pennsylvania train today.

The train which Mrs. McCormick chartered after arrival from Europe and finding she had missed the Broadway limited, arrived here at 1:47 a. m. after a record run from New York.

A change of engines was made in five minutes and the train consisting of an engine, one steel coach and a Pullman sped away. Railroad men here who said that the train, exclusive of the Pullman would cost Mrs. McCormick $5,200.87, could assign no reason for her desire to make the quick trip to Chicago.

The run from New York to Pittsburgh was made in twenty-nine minutes less time than is made by the Broadway Limited.

CHARLES PONZI ARRESTED ATTEMPTING TO ESCAPE COUNTRY DISGUISED ON SHIP

HOUSTON, Tex., June 29.—Arrested on a steamer as he was about to flee to Europe, Charles Ponzi, Boston's financial "wizard" was being returned here today for New England authorities. Ponzi is under sentence from seven to nine years, as a "common and notorious thief."

Ponzi's head had been shaved and he wore a newly-sprouted mustache when he was arrested, as he stepped from an Italian steamer to a New Orleans dock yesterday.

Clad in the dungaree of a captain's messman aboard the Slevos Non Veis, Ponzi steadfastly denying his identity, speaking labored

Two Women and Man
Hurt But Climb Out
Of Water

NORTH BALTIMORE, O., June 29.—John Holdman, 65, of Findlay and Charles Courtney, 40, of Fostoria, O., were drowned near here today when their automobile plunged into a creek.

Three other occupants of the vehicle were injured. They were Miss Ella Moore, 41, Bellevue, Ohio, Clarence Edwards, 28, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Clara Edwards. All will recover, it was said.

Edwards and his mother said they were from Findlay.

Apparently the accident occurred about 2:30 a. m. Edwards was unable to give any details and authorities here did not learn them immediately. From stories told to the officers, the party, including Edwards and his mother, left the Edwards home last night for a drive.

A bridge spans the creek where the accident occurred and apparently Edwards, who was driving, became confused and drove the automobile into the creek instead of onto the bridge.

Holdman and Courtney were submerged. It was not determined immediately whether they were drowned or died from injuries. Both bodies were crushed.

The two women and Edwards, although painfully injured, managed to scramble ashore.

Edwards subsequently notified police and the bodies of Holdman and Courtney were recovered and brought to the C. A. Coy mortuary here.

EVOLUTION STUDY IS ON THE INCREASE

CLEVELAND, O., June 29 (UP)—Citing the interest in the 1925 Dayton-Scopes evolution trial as "wonderful advertising," Western Reserve University officials announced that enrollment has doubled at the college in courses dealing with evolution.

"We are experiencing a distinct benefit from the publicity that has been given evolution," Professor J. Paul Vischer declared, adding the anti-evolution propaganda circulated throughout the country has caused students to "want to know what it's all about."

SESQUI-CENTENNIAL PROGRAM

County Auditor Wead Pays Tribute To Signers of
Declaration Of Independence—Cadet Band
Gives Concert

County Auditor R. O. Wead spoke on the history of American independence in connection with Xenia's part in the nation-wide celebration of the Sesqui-Centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence Monday night before a large crowd on the Court House lawn.

"America today," he said, "combines the leading characteristics of the cavalier and the moral stamina of the Puritan."

"America," he said in closing, "is founded on the rock-ribbed Puritan and cavalier principles of truth, justice, and morality. If American citizens keep to those early ideals of their forefathers, the country will stand invincible in war and triumphant in peace."

Auditor Wead throughout his address, contrasted the early Puritan and cavalier characteristics, the former scrupulous and strict in his religious life and social requirements, the latter the gay, dominating type, admitting no master and submitting to no oppression.

The auditor paid tribute to the signers of the Declaration of Independence, declaring it was a gigantic task to unite thirteen different states, used to one empire within their boundaries.

Proceeding and following the address the O. S. and S. O. Home Cadet Band, under leadership of Professor H. E. Seall gave concerts. Mayor John W. Prugh, who is sponsoring the Sesqui-Centennial observance in Xenia, introduced the speaker and in a short talk outlined the program for the week's celebration.

Company L Band will give a concert at Shawnee Park Wednesday night at 7:45 p. m., fast time. The park will be lighted, seats will be available and Mayor Prugh is urging active support of the independence week celebration. Friday night another band concert will be given while next Sunday will be observed as "Go To Church" day.

Will Investigate Alleged Collusion Between State
Officials On Selection Of Apple Creek Site
For Institution

By United Press
WOOSTER, O., June 29.—The Wayne County grand jury today took up charges of collusion and graft in connection with the state's attempt to acquire a site for the new state institution for the feeble minded.

The charges involve Col. Samuel H. Bell of Wooster, holder of options on the Apple Creek site and three state officials—Welfare Director John E. Harper, J. T. Hoggett, chief agriculturist, and J. B. Youngblood, consulting engineer.

First testimony may not be heard before tomorrow, county prosecutor J. O. Fritz, announced. Among the subpoenas issued, said Fritz, are those naming Harper, state auditor Joseph T. Tracy, state finance director Baker and possibly Attorney General C. C. Crabbe, who with Tracy was responsible for the filing of the charges.

The grand jury was convened at the request of Gov. Donahey who also has asked similar inquiries in Huron and Portage counties, where sites for the institution were under consideration.

Wife Beater Charged With Murder Says He Was Drunk

CLEVELAND, June 29.—A charge of first degree murder was lodged today against Otto Kliment, 43, former deputy game warden, of the village of Parma in connection with the death of Special Deputy Marshal John Wolfe, of Parma Heights who was shot and killed late Monday while attempting to arrest Kliment. He was bound over by Mayor R. S. Stanfield, of Parma.

Kliment was captured in a woodland near his home after the shooting. Marshal Wolfe had sped to the Kliment house in response to a telephone call that Kliment was intoxicated, was beating his wife and was creating a general disturbance.

Neighbors said Kliment opened fire on Wolfe with a shotgun, killing the officer almost instantly. Marshal Charles Tesar and Constable William Lightner of Parma captured the man in the woodland only after several shots were exchanged, they said.

Kliment told Mayor Stanfield he "was drunk and didn't know what he was doing." Before he was captured he ran more than a mile and a half through the Parma cemetery, firing at the pursuing officers according to the latter.

Probers May Extend Investigation To Ohio
Is Learned

WASHINGTON, June 29.—A charge that the same interests which financed the $3,000,000 campaign in Pennsylvania are sending money into North Dakota for the Republican primary there tomorrow, was filed with the senate primary investigation committee today by D. H. McArthur, secretary to Senator Gerald P. Nye, entrant in the senatorial race there.

"It is my personal opinion that a huge slush fund has been obtained through administration channels of support, to be expended in North Dakota for the purpose of defeating Senator Nye and sending President Coolidge's campaign manager, L. B. Hanna, to the senate," said McArthur in his statement.

McArthur co-edited Joseph R. Grundy and W. L. Mellon, Republican party leaders in Pennsylvania collected $800,000 for the 1924 Coolidge presidential campaign. Of that amount, he charged $740,000 was sent to North Dakota and other western states to help carry those states for President Coolidge.

Washington, June 29.—The spectacular senate primary investigation today widened further the scope of its inquiry to make it an all-embracing inquiry into national politics.

A decision has been reached not to limit the inquiry to the Pennsylvania and Illinois primaries, but to sit all summer if need be, to ascertain the political activity of all parties in most of the northern and western states.

Before the committee is through, it expects to dig into reports from Indiana, Iowa, Ohio, North Dakota, Oregon, California, Vermont, Kentucky, Oklahoma, and perhaps other states.

Thousands of letters from those purporting to have information concerning visioned irregularities in these districts, have been received by members of the investigating committee.

Closing the third week of investigation today the committee has amassed a voluminous record, the high points of which are:

Expenditures of approximately $3,000,000 by the Republican primaries in the Pennsylvania campaign.

MILITARY TRAINING ATTACKED BY PACIFIST ORGANIZATIONS; DEFENDED BY WAR SECRETARY

By FREDERICK J. LIBBY
(Written for the United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 29. (UP)—Military training in schools and colleges, especially when compulsory, is under heavy fire from leading educators in the United States and from our churches.

Boston University has just abolished the compulsory feature. The University of Wisconsin, a land grant college, did so two years ago. Nebraska proposes to take a state referendum on the subject in the November election, following the refusal of the State Regents to heed a protest from students in the State University.

Majorities of students in Cornell in Ohio State University, and in the College of the City of New York have petitioned the authorities to remove the compulsory feature. Among the college presidents that condemn military training for school boys are President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University, President Harry A. Garfield of Williams College, President Wm. H. Faunce of Brown University, President Wm. T. Brewster of Reed College, and President Arthur E. Morgan of Antioch College.

The Cleveland Board of Education from nationalist organizations, from Hon. Newton D. Baker and Senator Pomeroy, and voted six to one to abolish it. The high school principals of Massachusetts in April voted 300 to 9, according to press dispatches, against the continuance of military training in Massachusetts schools or its development in any way, shape or form.

The Northern Baptist Convention the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States and the great Federal Administrative Committee, have all within a month taken their stand against compulsory military training. The Federal Council goes further and condemns any "systematic and technical military training for youths of high school age."

It will be observed that the attacks focus on two phases of the question, the compulsory feature in colleges and all military training in high schools.

The case against military training in high schools can be summed up as follows:

It militarizes the thinking of immature boys, leading them to rely on force rather than on reason and making them chafe when opposed personally or nationally. It gives boys the impression that wars are natural and inevitable at a time when the world is seeking a rational method of settling international disputes. It has confessedly no military value in a highly technical profession. It is no substitute for physical training such as one gets from gymnastics and group games. The obedience it teaches is not obedience in general but obedience to a Sam Browne belt. Its discipline is not self-discipline but external repression under the watchful eye of an inspecting officer. It does not teach all-around good citizenship as scouting does nor prepare a boy for service to his community in time of peace.

The case against forcing boys in high school and college to take military training against their will is even more convincing. Conscription is peace-time is universal ally recognized as un-American, a European practice condemned by our founders and justly hated by the American people. It is an infringement on the inalienable right of private conscience unjustified by any present plea of national necessity.

The whole present emphasis of the War Department on military training is believed, on excellent and sufficient grounds, to have as its purpose, not directly the saving of life in war,—for the courses are too elementary to do that,—but military propaganda looking towards the progressive militarization of the thinking of the nation through its youth. The time to stop this process, which could only end in war and world disaster, is now.

By DWIGHT F. DAVIS

Secretary of War
(Written for the United Press)
WASHINGTON, June 29. (UP)—Between 1921 and 1925 over 217,000 youths applied for the training afforded by the Citizens' Military Training Camps; the funds and facilities available permitted the enrollment of but 127,000. Applications for the establishment of units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are now on file in the War Department.

I have my own very earnest convictions on the value of military training in the teaching of self-respect and self-reliance, in the building of healthy bodies and healthy minds, in the promotion

ment from over fifty high schools and colleges; the War Department has neither the personnel nor the financial means to approve these applications.

Enrollment in the Citizens' Military Training Camps is purely voluntary on the part of the youth. Requests for the establishment of units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps are made by the authorities of the institutions concerned. It is believed that these unfiled requests prove conclusively the appreciation of the value of military training by the people of the country.

The demand comes from the people themselves. The War Department is having the greatest difficulty in maintaining its present schedule of citizen soldier training with the funds, personnel, and facilities available. It could not honor further requests for such training, even if it were desirous of so doing. And yet we hear frequent charges that the War Department is attempting to foist military training, if not militarism, on the people of the country.

I have my own very earnest convictions on the value of military training in the teaching of self-respect and self-reliance, in the building of healthy bodies and healthy minds, in the promotion of democracy and broadmindedness, and in the inculcation of virile American citizenship. But as I might be considered an interested party in this matter, I will let the authorities of two institutions which have established military training speak for me.

"For seventeen years we have had a military organization at Saint Thomas College," states Father Cullen, "its benefits to the students, both physically and mentally, are, in our experience, undoubted. Young men come to us awkward in gait, stooped in shoulders, and in alert. In the course of one semester they acquire an agility of step, and a straightness of stature that shall constitute for them a valuable asset whatever vocation they may enter."

Henry Suzzallo, President of the University of Washington, stated in 1921: "I might tell you that I don't believe I ever stood up straight in my life until I took military training. I might tell you that it was as a cadet on long hikes that I first sensed great responsibility for the care of others under me. I might indicate that it was military training which first developed my sense of the importance of human coordination and cooperation, of getting big things done by team-play or mass work where they couldn't be gotten by individual actions. These are only a few of the great character lessons which may be gained nered from the military department. I speak about them somewhat passionately because I know from personal experience what military training can do for you."

HAYS, Kans., June 29.—A snake swallowed another equally as large as a free exhibition for a college class in zoology during a class period at the Hays State Teachers' College here. Prof L. B. Without any preliminaries the king snake promptly wrapped himself about the blue racer and commenced to swallow his companion. The "meal" required about two hours in the taking.

Health Hints
by the Father of Physical Culture
BERNARD MACFADDEN

The more perfect and pure the condition of the blood, the greater the vitality, and the more active the circulation, the more satisfactorily will the bones be nourished, and under such conditions of good health they will improve if they have been below par in size and strength before the inception of the good habits which have brought about this good health. If they were already fully developed, then no change in size will be apparent, although they may be improved in quality and strength. A vigorous muscular condition is invariably accompanied with the active circulation that helps to keep all other tissues at their best. Laying aside all comparisons of muscular development, the bones of the athlete are far stronger than those of the sedentary worker; his tendons are tougher and his ligaments less easily torn; his nerves are less susceptible to shock. Men who play football develop such hardihood that they can not only endure with impunity what might almost kill the average man of business, but when they are injured they do not require so much time in which to mend. Their bones knit more rapidly, wrenched tendons and lacerated ligaments recover in surprisingly short time, while bumps and bruises which others might feel for a week soon disappear over night. Such are the advantages of a vigorous physical condition, whether acquired by football or by less strenuous and more effective methods which we are teaching. The bones, like all other tissues of the body, may be influenced in this way.

If one really desires to enlarge a particular bone, he can do so by subjecting it to repeated and long-continued strain. If he has a slight wrist and wishes to strengthen and enlarge it, he could do so by working as a bricklayer for two or three years, or by persistent practice of exercises which place a decided strain upon the wrist without injuring it. Bricklayers and blacksmiths all have good wrists. Mountaineers all have stout knees and sturdy limbs, a continuous life on the mountains climbing, hunting and struggling over rocky passes, would strengthen anybody's legs, with reference to both muscles and bones.

CHURCH RECEPTION

FOR MRS. D. D. DODDS.
The poet Lowell was responsible for the expression, "What is so rare as a day in June" and this was verified Monday when women of the First United Presbyterian Church, almost to a unit, met in the church parlors to render tribute to Mrs. D. D. Dodds, wife of the former pastor of the congregation on her return from the meeting of the Woman's General Missionary Society, Monmouth, Ill.

The church parlors were transformed into a bower of beauty with clusters of white lilies, roses and delphinium combined with flags to carry out the approach of independence day.

No formal program was arranged the afternoon being turned over to a general festiveness. The occasion was thoroughly enjoyed by seventy persons. A delightful menu, prepared by the First Division of the Ladies Aid Society, with Mrs. Jeanette Ervin, chairman and Mrs. E. C. Moorman, her assistant, was served by that division, including a number of the young women of the congregation.

COUNTRY EXTENSION

AGENT IS MARRIED.
Mr. J. R. Kimber, Greene County extension agent and Miss Frances Coffman, Carroll, O., were married at the home of the bride, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The wedding was quietly solemized, members of the two intimate families attending.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimber left immediately for a trip through the East. They will return to Xenia about July 6, and reside on N. Detroit St.

Mrs. Kimber is a graduate of the Ohio State University, with the class of 1924. She is a member of Kappa Delta Sorority and majored in home economics and has been teaching in a high school near Columbus.

Mr. Kimber came to Xenia December 1, as extension agent and his many friends are interested in his marriage and anxious to meet his bride.

SERIES OF PARTIES

FOR WESTERN GUESTS.
Mrs. Philip LaBelle, formerly of this city and her mother, Mrs. Horace L. White, both of Los Angeles, Cal., houseguests of Mrs. A. E. Faulkner, W. Second St., were being feted with a round of delightful affairs during their visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson entertained with 6 o'clock dinner at their home on S. Columbus St., Saturday, in their honor. Sunday morning, Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner entertained with breakfast for the pleasure of their guests.

Monday evening, Dr. and Mrs. George Davis had Mr. and Mrs. Faulkner, Mrs. White and Mrs. LaBelle as their dinner guests. Members of the Woman's Bible Class, First M. E. Church were received at the Faulkner home Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Maude Voris and Mrs. Faulkner are entertaining the Rebekahs and Order of the Eastern Star at the Faulkner home, at which Mrs. LaBelle and Mrs. White will be honor guests, Thursday evening.

COUNTRY CLUB LUNCHEON

ATTRACTS LARGE CROWD.
Cool breezes and the inviting comfort of the Xenia Country Club beckoned a large bevy of women members who spent Monday at the club house.

Golf engrossed the usual devotees of the sport during the morning, while cards were in play on the club house porch. After the tempting luncheon at noon, bridge entertained the guests during the remainder of the afternoon.

The day's pleasure was due to the efforts of the committee in charge; Mrs. H. S. LeSourd, chairman; Mrs. J. R. McCormick, Mrs. George R. Kelly, Mrs. Lawrence Shields, Miss Helen LeSourd and Mrs. A. M. Patterson.

LOCAL WOMEN GIVEN

FORMER MAGAZINE POSTS.
Mrs. J. P. White, Xenia, was re-appointed editor of the Woman's Missionary Magazine and Mrs. Fannie Moore, also of this city, was re-appointed treasurer of the magazine, at the Woman's General Missionary Society convention at Monmouth, Ill., June 18-22.

Miss Lulu Buchanan, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Buchanan, former pastor of the old Third U. P. Church, this city, was elected president of the General Missionary Society which will convene in Pittsburgh, Kansas in 1927.

FIRST M. E. PICNIC

Sunday School officers and teachers of the First M. E. Church will meet on the parsonage lawn for a picnic supper Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, by invitation of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Stanton. A social and business session will be enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lackey and son, Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Griffith and daughter of Yellow Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Soward near Enon, enjoyed the week end at the Cumberland Cottage, Russell's Point.

Miss Helen Moffett, Winfield, Kan. spent the week end in Xenia with relatives, enroute to Columbia University, New York, where she will attend during the summer term.

Mrs. Emma Zell and Mrs. LeRoy Wolf returned from New York City, Monday where they spent the past eleven days. Mrs. Zell attended the largest congress of the I. N. T. A. at the Commodore Hotel and Mrs. Wolf spent the time at Columbia University.

Miss Rose Antonette Norckauer, student nurse at Good Samaritan Hospital, Cincinnati, spending her vacation at her home on E. Third St. She is recovering from a tonsillectomy.

LOCAL SOCIETIES

ATTEND CONVENTION

Many members of the Young People's Societies, First and Second U. P. Churches, Xenia, are attending the annual convention of Xenia Presbytery at the Second U. P. Church, Springfield, O., Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Second Church society was on the program Tuesday afternoon and the First Church young people are to present the medical missionary play, "The Pill Bottle," at the evening session.

Dr. H. B. McElree, pastor of the Second Church, will speak at the conference Wednesday afternoon. The Rev. James P. Lytle pastor of First Church, is secretary of the Sunday School and Young People's Work in the Presbytery and has arranged the program.

A feature of the convention is special music given by various societies of the Presbytery at each session of the convention. A picnic supper and social time was held Tuesday evening.

LARGE PROCEEDS OF "POPPY DAY" REPORTED.
"Poppy Day" recently held by American Legion Auxiliary netted the society, $155.00, it was reported by Mrs. Frank Hustmyer, chairman of the committee, at the monthly meeting in Post Hall, Monday. This sum will be used for work among sick World War veterans in hospitals.

Other regular routine business was transacted during the fore part of the evening. A social time followed, with dainty refreshments served by the hostess committee composed of Mrs. Fred Baldwin, chairman; Mrs. Edward Paul, Miss Lorena Paulin and Mrs. Charles L. Darlington, Jr.

Mrs. Ida Putnam, Dayton, is the guest of Mrs. John W. Van Eaton, Van Eaton Road. She will leave there for New Jersey for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Putnam Read.

Mrs. Minnie Foster, N. King St., is spending the week in Cincinnati with relatives and friends.

Mr. Gould Peters, Dodds Apartments, underwent an operation for appendicitis at McClellan Hospital, Monday. He is recuperating favorably.

Mr. James Osborn, east of Xenia, was painfully injured when kicked in the face by a horse on his farm, Monday afternoon. Mr. Osborn had unhitched the animal when it became fractious. Several of his teeth were loosened, his face cut and bruised and one eye severely injured. His hurts are not thought serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Jenkins, near Xenia, are the parents of a daughter, born Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Smith and family and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, spent Sunday at Russell's Point.

Mrs. William J. Oglesbee, Mrs. H. H. Conklin, Mrs. Arthur Perrill and Mrs. Raymond Wolf, Xenia, attended the tea given by Mrs. Russell Probasco, Wilmington, Monday afternoon. Mrs. Oglesbee presided at the tea urn.

Called meeting of Daughters of Pocahontas Lodge will be held at Red Men's Hall, Tuesday evening, to make arrangements to attend the funeral of Mrs. Emma Maher.

Miss Doris Whittington, N. Detroit St., left Tuesday morning to enjoy a visit with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Sutton, Waterbury Resort.

Mrs. C. E. Arbogast, N. King St., has had as her guest the past week, her niece, Miss Fay Barnum, Greenwich, Conn. Miss Barnum has been visiting her grandmother in Louisville, Conn., and is enroute to New Hampshire to spend the remainder of the summer at a girls' camp.

SPIRIT OF AMERICA
SUBJECT OF SPEECH

"The spirit of determination, a vital part in the spirit of America, is exemplified or illustrated by the great achievements in industrial, scientific and military lines of activity," declared the Rev. W. P. Harman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, formerly the Reformed Presbyterian Church, Codaryville, in his address "The Spirit of America" at Xenia Rotary Club, Elk's Lodge, Tuesday noon.

"This spirit of determination is only secondary to the all-absorbing spirit of America, which includes the elements of liberty, union, and a quality of brotherhood," he continued.

"These various elements are fruits of our outstanding national experiences," he pointed out, illustrating with events of the Revolutionary, Civil and World Wars. "This spirit has given to us our great national leaders and secured for us the privileges which we as citizens enjoy."

"The spirit needs to be applied in the solution of the present problems such as labor and capital, immigration, the colored race and international relations," he concluded.

LARGE ATTENDANCE PLANNED AT SCHOOL
Contrary to reports to the effect that the Greene County Normal School would be discontinued next year, H. C. Aultman, county superintendent of schools, announced Tuesday that the attendance would be larger than ever before and elaborate plans are being laid for the coming year's work.

A number have already enrolled in the school and others have signified their intention of doing so. To take care of the large increase in attendance, the State Department of Education has granted an assistant normal director. Neither the director or assistant has as yet been appointed.

It is understood Miss Susanne Koehler, director of the school since its inception, has taken a position as supervising principal of elementary work in Cleveland, O., schools.

Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women and children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "p. sic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

TUTUAL CLEANLINESS

There are degrees of cleanliness as of purity. One may say if a thing is pure it is pure, and that's all there is to it. But that is not all there is to it, as has been demonstrated by a baking powder company in this country. In its advertising, as on the cans in which its product is contained, it was not content simply to say that its product was pure. Instead, it emphasized its purity by characterizing it as "absolutely pure," and newspapers under the name of this baking powder, brought millions of dollars profit to its manufacturers. The company meant chemically pure, no doubt. The public bought its powder, used in food, because absolutely pure meant to it absolutely clean.

Absolute cleanliness of body is extremely rare. Perhaps not one person in a million ever is entirely clean all over, for there are degrees of cleanliness. A man thinks he is clean after a hot bath, but a surgeon does not regard him clean for his purpose. To be "surgically clean" is quite different from what we commonly regard as cleanliness of our persons. When a surgeon washes his hands twenty minutes, while a nurse scrubs that part of the body on which an operation is to be performed, we get a new idea of cleanliness.

Unfortunately all physicians do not take the precautions for cleanness which the surgeon does. Many a new mother has been robbed not only of the joys of motherhood, but of her life, by infection from the dirty (surgically speaking) hands of the doctor in attendance. Beware the doctor or the dentist, who has a dirty office or who begins his explorations of sore places without cleansing his hands and taking scientific precautions against infecting his patient. Such professional men are dangerous. They are often in contact with infectious diseases, possibly with one just before you take the chair. When Bacon wrote that "cleanness of body was ever esteemed to proceed from a due reverence to God, to society, and to ourselves," he covered important ground.

A GENTLEMAN

We hear all too often that exclamation: "What a gentleman he is!"

Why shouldn't every man be a gentleman?

What is a gentleman? Here are a few qualities that Cardinal Newman once gave as those which stamped the gentleman. One who—

Never inflicts pain.

Carefully avoids whatever may cause a jar or a jolt in the minds of those with whom he is cast.

Makes everyone at ease and at home in his presence.

Doesn't bring up topics that might cause irritation to another.

Makes light of favors while he does them.

Never gossips or slanders.

Never takes unfair advantage of another.

Is never mean in disputes, but always fair and generous.

Never gives out sharp sayings for argument.

Bears no malice.

Is kind to another intellect inferior to his own.

Always just.

Always indulgent.

Respects weakness in human nature and makes the proper amends.

When I read that description of a perfect gentleman by this great man I couldn't help but want very much to be a gentleman.

What a world this would be if all men in it were gentlemen!

Thornton, star pitcher of the O. S. and S. O. Home has won twenty-two straight games in two years. He has fanned 116 men, allowed an average of four hits and three runs a game and besides has a two-year batting average of .410.

The Nebraska Indians outclassed the Xenia Clippers and won 21 to 2 in the most amusing farce baseball game of the season.

Thirteen members of the class of 1904 of the Xenia High School defied sultry weather to attend the reunion and dance at Neff Park.

lowed and darkened. Can it be made white again?

Answer: Yes, it can be bleached as follows: Scrub with strong soapuds containing one-half cup of salt and two ounces of bleaching powder (chloride of lime) to the gallon. Apply with stiff scrubbing brush and do not let mixture touch hand or clothing. Place the furniture in the open air to dry. Reed and rattan in the natural color may also be bleached in this way.

Young Couple: "We are dreaming of building our own home, some day, and are amusing ourselves drawing our own house plans! Shouldn't we build it around our furniture—that is, have spaces in certain rooms which will take our large pieces of furniture easily?"

Answer: If your furniture will last you for years, that is a good plan. Be sure to have a space where your bed may stand without facing the light, and another where your bureau or dressing table may stand so that the person dressing before it will be in a strong light. The piano is another important piece to take into consideration.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's
Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio. "After having my first baby, I lost weight, no matter what I did. Then a doctor told me I would be better if I had another baby, which I did. But I got worse, was always sickly and went down to 98 pounds. My neighbor told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it helped her very much, so I tried it. After taking four bottles, I weigh 116 pounds. It has just done wonders for me and I can do my housework now without one bit of trouble."—Mrs. M. RUSSELL, 10004 Nelson Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

If some good fairy should appear, and offer to grant your heart's desire, what would you choose? Wealth? It's a transient thing that brings its own cares. Happiness? It's an elusive thing which we keep by giving away. Health? That's the best gift. Health is riches that gold cannot buy and surely health is cause enough for happiness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be the good fairy who offers you better health.

BOWERSVILLE POST OFFICE

Peter Bowermaster, first postmaster in Bowersville, was commissioned February 12, 1848 and held the office until his death November 3, 1859. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1787 and had been a resident of Greene County since 1810, serving in the war of 1812 with one of the volunteer companies organized in the county.

While he was postmaster the office was on a star route running between Jamestown and Reservoir. Mail was carried between the two villages once a week on horseback—or sometimes on foot—by Christopher H. Stewart.

After Bowermaster's death, his son, Reason A., applied for the position and was granted a commission December 12, 1859. He held it a number of years and gave way to John Haughey shortly after the Civil War.

Mail is now delivered to the office by rural carriers from Jamestown on the north and Sabina on the south.

The railroad no longer carries mail to the town, although for a number of years after it was opened in the latter part of the seventies, it did.

Just Folks

EVENING

The twilight falls, and the tasks are done,
And the garden glows in the setting sun;
The martins sweep on their last few flights,
And there comes the calm of God's Summer nights,
Then it seems that the blossoms bend to pray
At the glorious close of another day.

In that lovely hour when the dusk slips down
A hush comes over the noisy town;
I hear the whistle of old Bob White,
And it seems to me that he says, "Good night!"
The wrens slip into their house nearby,
And alone in the lowering dusk am I.

In the evening hour when the shadows fall
Comes a touch divine to my garden small;
I stand in silence a moment there
And fancy the blossoms are bowed in prayer.
I catch a beauty of plant and flower
That is only there in that evening hour.

Liquid Fire

A liquid fire applied to bed-bugs, roaches and fleas. That's the new chemical discovery—P. D. Q. Can do no damage to your springs or furniture, won't rot or stain clothing. P. D. Q. is used and recommended by leading hotels, hospitals and railroads as the quickest and safest way of getting rid of pesky insects. Instantly it smothers and kills the living creatures; coats their eggs, and stops them from hatching and multiplying. A 35c package of this golden chemical will make a quart of mixture—so deadly it will kill a million bed-bugs. P. D. Q. can also be had in double-strength liquid form—ready for use. Free patent spoon enables you to reach hard-to-get-at places with ease. Get P. D. Q. at your druggist's today. Your money back, if the bugs are not gone tomorrow.

Modish Mitzi

THE FIRST STOP WILL BE WASHINGTON

By Jay V. Jay

Since Mitzi's trip is designed expressly for the purpose of broadening Mitzi's education it seems eminently proper that she start from Washington. Oddly enough, the Goofer has just had an urgent business call to Washington himself.

He is telling Mitzi all about it and Mitzi is hoping that he won't be too busy to help them out when they need an escort and Dad is tired. The Goofer, gazing with unseeing eyes at Mitzi's smart traveling coat, assures her fervently that he will make time!

Polly's traveling costume is topped by a coat of twill lined with polka dotted silk which is also used for a scarf. Her hat is of two shades of felt (see the scallops around the crown). Aunt Sophia's coat has a V shaped trimming line in back.

This is the family home and from the way it is boarded up you may surmise that Dad isn't going back to the comfort of his pet easy chair for a long while. Even this stray cat seems to know that there is no danger of being shoed or snatched away!

The Theatre

From Broadway, the center of modern pulchritude, comes words of disillusionment—words that crumble, by their very statistical and authoritative nature, the romance we have woven about history's notorious women. They come from Ned Wayburn, beauty mentor to the American musical stage and producer of more than 500 girl-shows during a period of twenty-eight years.

"Your vampires whose charm has pulsated through every page of the past are incomparable with the average chorus girl we see in present-day productions, Helen of Troy, Salome, Pompadour and many others of their ilk would have been compelled to seek self-expression by other means than that afforded by their languorous figures and feminine wiles."

"I have found," he says that seldom was it beauty which the notorious Eves of history purveyed to their male admirers. The majority of them were not only a great distance from physical perfection but some were possessed of countenances which swung to the other extreme of the pulchritudinal pendulum.

"The ladies won, however by their extreme cleverness. They were excellent showmen and displayed an uncanny ability—ranking on the level with the skill of a Barnum—in exaggerating the scant values of their few virtues. What these vamps lacked in general front they more than made up in feminine effrontery."

According to Wayburn, Cleopatra's nose was too prominent, and she had a set of decayed teeth. Comtesse Du Barry had a weak mouth and a full, broad nose. Madame de M...

dame Jean Francois Julie Recamier whose salon was filled with European nobility, had a "gross nose" in Wayburn's opinion.

Marion Talley, youthful prima donna and Giovanni Martinelli, tenor, are to be the first to "go into the movies" voices and all. The Metropolitan recently signed a contract permitting employment of its singers by the Vitaphone Co., producers of a device for synchronizing motion pictures and music. The first "singing picture" will have its premiere July 29.

ONE THIRD OF HOME PUPILS NEED MEDICAL ATTENTION IS FOUND

One-third of pupils at the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans' home here need medical or surgical attention, according to findings of the four-weeks survey just completed. Dr. A. C. Messenger, of Xenia, acting resident physician, announces.

Recommendations of state health authorities and advice given Home officials regarding care of the children will be given immediate attention. It was announced at the close of the examination.

Col. C. H. Robbins, epidemiologist of the State Health Department was chief examiner, assisted by members of his staff: Dr. Van Orsdel, Dr. Tate, Dr. Mahoney, Dr. Frank, chief of the tuberculosis division and the chief examiner of hospitals for the state department and Mr. E. E. bacteriologist for that department. The staff brought with them, Miss Downing and Miss Shrimplin and the resident physician, also assisted in the survey.

A thorough examination of the 608 children was made including a blood test of each. The children range from three to eighteen years of age.

Investigation showed that 233 had defective teeth, 173 were under weight, 145 had defective eyes and vision, forty-two had defective tonsils and thirty-eight had defective ears or hearing. Other minor ailments were found, but these were the most pronounced. None of the children were sick, but to measure up to perfect health, require medical or surgical attention for some defect.

"It is the first time such a survey has been made of the children here."

WITTENBERG GRID MEN TO HOLD CAMP

The prospective Wittenberg College football squad for this fall, some forty strong, is to congregate at John Bryans Riverside farm near Yellow Springs for a summer camping period beginning August 23.

The boys will live together on that part of the tract now used for a Boy Scout encampment by the Springfield council for two weeks returning to Springfield September 15 to report for first practice the following day.

Members of the squad will be put through daily exercises to condition them for the long grind ahead this fall. The camp idea was originated by Captain "Red" Armstrong who will have charge of the boys in the absence of Coaches Godfred and Trautwein. Equipment used by the Scouts has been procured for the gridgers.

Miss A. Chakardic Tells How Cuticura Healed Skin Trouble

"I was troubled with a breaking out on my face and hands. It itched and burned so that at night I would lie awake for hours and scratch. Scratching caused eruptions that disfigured my face. I could not do my work on account of the breaking out on my hands. The trouble lasted about a month. I used other remedies but none of them seemed to be of any use. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Anna Chakardic, 109 Hendley St., Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 18, 1925.

Make Cuticura Soap and Ointment your every-day toilet preparations and have a clear, sweet skin, soft, smooth hands and a healthy scalp with good hair. Cuticura-Talcum is unexcelled in purity.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

What is a Real Tire Test?

United States Tires are under continual test in our laboratories and on our road test vehicles. Motorcoach tires, for example, are tested under actual service conditions on this United States Rubber Company Test Coach.

Questions and Answers that may be News to You—by a Tire Engineer of the United States Rubber Company

Question—With 20,000,000 cars running in America, does not the experience of users largely take the place of factory tests?

Answer—On the contrary. The very fact that motor transportation is so important in the life of every one imposes an additional obligation for searching tests on the tire manufacturer. The makers of United States Tires do not expect their customers to test their tires for them.

Question—What does the United States Rubber Company Factory Test include?

Answer—Everything from the Tree to the finished tire. Raw materials are tested before they go into the tires, and the finished tires are tested in the Company's laboratories and on the Company's road test cars, trucks and buses. They are also watched in actual commercial service.

Question—What do these tests prove?

Answer—The material tests insure the quality of material used. The laboratory and road tests of complete "proven" tires prove the correctness of manufacturing processes.

Question—What raw materials are tested?

Answer—Cotton cord, which furnishes the strength and flexibility of the tire; rubber, which binds the various parts of the tire together and forms the tread or wearing surface; compounding ingredients, which we mix with the rubber to give it the necessary qualities; and, steel wire, which is used in making the beads of the tire.

Question—What tests are made on the cord?

Answer—Cord going into the manufacture of Web Cord for United States Tires is tested for strength, stretch, size, twist, ply, length of staple, and freedom from imperfections.

Question—What tests are made on Rubber?

Answer—Even though the quality and uniformity of Sprayed Rubber is controlled by the processes used on our plantations in the Far East, every shipment received at our factories is again tested for uniformity and also, after mixing with sulphur, it is tested for its rate of vulcanization, its tensile strength and stretch.

Question—What tests are made on the finished tire?

Answer—The material tests insure the quality of material used. The laboratory and road tests of complete "proven" tires prove the correctness of manufacturing processes.

Question—Does the fact that a large number of tires of a certain design and construction have given satisfactory service obviate the necessity for further tests on tires of the same kind?

Answer—No. Vehicle design and use, and road conditions are constantly changing. Tires that gave excellent satisfaction ten years ago are obsolete today in design and construction.

Question—How does the United States Rubber Company keep abreast of these constantly changing conditions?

Answer—It has a corps of factory trained technical experts in different sections of the country, continually checking the service our tires are rendering under actual operating conditions.

Question—Do all companies test their tires in this way?

Answer—Most all companies make tests of some sort. Very few, if any, carry them to the extent that they are carried by the United States Rubber Company.

"Not Possible To Classify"

By Mack Sauer

Well, the other night I heard an address over the radio which was delivered by Calvin Coolidge. The speech was divided into three parts—(1) Economy. (2) Economy. (3) Economy.

Coolidge impresses me as being a man to whom I would hate to owe money.

ECONOMICAL CAL

"Calvin Coolidge to me" Said Hiram Root, "Is a man who buys 'A two pants suit.'"

Coolidge is a man of few words, the best known of which are "economy," "economy" and "tax reduction." He has already chosen the subject for his Armistice Day speech. He will talk on economy.

Coolidge is so economical that he wants to get rid of some of the useless clerks they have around Washington. May I suggest they either poison or shoot about half the United States senators they have there. Coolidge should give some of them a talking-to—of course he would talk on economy.

PITY THE WIFE

If there's anything Bore Mrs. Calvin C., It's Cal's long talks On Economy.

The latest one on Coolidge is the story going the rounds to the effect that he had to borrow a nickel from one of the guards the other day to pay for a magazine he purchased. This must not go on. Our president must have some change.

Coolidge may not be as hard down in his heart as he is pictured, but he is hard up, that's certain. We hear he is writing a book. The title of the book is "Economy."

IN THE MOVIES

Went to the movie And what did I see? Why, our president In "Economy."

They do have some empty office buildings, some empty chairs and plenty of empty heads in Washington. And they do say one whiff of Vice President Dawes' pipe will make anyone see why this country needs a good five cent cigar.

Cal may reduce taxes, but he is not reducing the president's term any. You'll find him in the White House six years from now. And I can picture him giving his inaugural address two years from now. He will speak on economy.

S. B. LE SOURD DIES

SUDDENLY TUESDAY

AT SUMMER COTTAGE

years. Besides holding the position of director and secretary of the Home Building and Savings Co., he was a director of the Citizens National Bank. Fraternally he was connected with Xenia Lodge, No. 49, F. and A. M.; Xenia Chapter, R. A. M., and for a time with Tabor Lodge, No. 315, I. O. O. F. He was a member of the Woodland Cemetery board, and of the city board of education for years.

For many years he was an adjunct for the Ohio Farmers' Insurance Co. but had been on the retired list for the past three or four years. He was also a member of Trinity M. E. Church serving as steward.

He was born in Bethany, Butler County, O., February 9, 1850, the son of Nicholas and Eleanor Gorsuch LeSourd. Receiving his early education in the common schools this was complemented by a course in the Lebanon State Normal School. He pursued his studies further in Monroe Academy at Monroe, O. and later became engaged in teaching school at Butler for a time.

His grandfather, Peter LeSourd, was a native of France and accompanied Lafayette to America when the French patriot volunteered aid in the establishment of independence among the American colonies. The family name was then spelled La Seur but has since been changed to its present form. Nicholas LeSourd, his father, was born in Maryland and with his parents came to Ohio where he farmed land extensively until his death in 1884.

Mr. LeSourd was married to Ida Stewart, Goes Station, daughter of Judge J. M. Stewart, March 30, 1876. Following their wedding the couple lived in Bethany for a year and one-half before moving to Xenia. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last March 30.

Surviving besides his widow are three children: Harry LeSourd, Xenia, assistant secretary of the Home Building and Savings Co.; Mrs. S. M. McKay, Xenia; Mrs. F. A. DuBois, Warren, Pa.; and one brother, J. P. LeSourd, who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. L. C. Schaffer at Hamilton, O.

A careful re-check of stock disclosed nothing of value was taken at the tin shop. A rear window later was empty and the same was left untouched. In making their getaway, the marauders left a rear door and window open.

Patrolman Fred Jones investigated the robberies.

Three small burglaries baffled police Tuesday.

Hustmyer's Billiard Parlor, 22 W. Main St., the Frank B. Scott tin shop, 30 W. Main St., and Xenia Garage, S. Detroit St. were entered sometime Monday night but the total loot it is estimated will not exceed $10.

Entering the billiard parlor by shattering a pane of glass in a side window with a milk bottle, thieves rifled the cash register of $9 in change.

A panel in a rear door was broken out to effect entrance to the garage. Unable to gain admittance to the office proper, automobiles were searched. Only a bar of soap and a towel was obtained.

A careful re-check of stock disclosed nothing of value was taken at the tin shop. A rear window later was empty and the same was left untouched. In making their getaway, the marauders left a rear door and window open.

Patrolman Fred Jones investigated the robberies.

Plan Three-Year Arctic Stay

Three years of exploration in the arctic are ahead of the diminutive craft, the "Rene Bellot," shown here at its Paris wharf, aboard which Captain Emile Sequier is taking a crew of explorers to study the polar area. Shown in the group are the leaders of the expedition, left to right: P. Galletti, geographer; Captain Sequier and I. C. Sonnabend, his assistant.

Papal Legate Enthroned at Eucharistic Congress

Cardinal Bonzano, as papal legate to the International Eucharistic Congress, is the central figure of the gathering of Catholic hosts at Chicago. Here he is shown seated on the throne erected for him in Holy Name Cathedral, where the congress was officially opened and which remains one of the centers of activities during the congress. The other cardinals sit opposite the legate.

Mlle. Rhana, an actress of Paris, has outdone—at least as far as latest news is concerned—the feat of Mlle. Mistinguette, also of Paris, in insuring her feet for a fabulous sum. Mlle. Rhana's policy reads for 1,000,000 francs. Her feet, observed herewith, are said to be "the loveliest in Paris." Before the fall of the franc artists thought 100,000 francs was enough insurance to carry on shapely limbs.

Canadian Peeress Charms London

Lady Beaverbrook, wife of one of the few remaining "Peers of Canada" is gaining a wide reputation as one of the most charming and popular hostesses in London. This is her latest portrait. Lady Beaverbrook was formerly Miss Gladys Drury, daughter of the late Major General Drury of Canada. Her husband was knighted during the Great War for his distinguished services.

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

ROSILYN PAGE, pathetic, wilful hard-worked daughter of a Long Island innkeeper, has burning aspirations for a fuller and more beautiful existence. Wealthy New Yorkers come yearly to her father's inn for the duck-shooting, but she dislikes them all except one young society fellow.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY, handsome and distinguished, well-used to the ways of the world, and at present in serious financial difficulties. For ten years he has come down at intervals to the Long Island inn to hunt, and has always been kind to the lonely, over-worked young woman. He is in love with a beautiful society girl.

LYDIA HARBROOK, who values money far above love. Lydia, one night calls on Landis while he is staying at the inn, and swears she still loves him, although she plans to marry STEVIE VAN VORST, a wealthy old roue.

Rosilyn who is tending her sick father, overhears the conversation between Landis and Lydia.

CHAPTER 7
FORTUNE'S TURN

AT dawn the soul of Rosilyn's father went to its account. The day brought curious neighbors, simple folk who had never cared for the hard-hearted innkeeper, but who were sorry for his daughter.

The sportsmen departed, all save Landis Ridgeway. For a reason that he could not fathom—unless, subconsciously, he realized a kinship in their mutual wretchedness—he stayed on, to render Rosilyn what help he might.

A farmer's wife stayed too. On the third day was the funeral, and thereafter the village attorney, in company with Landis, who was in the same profession, went through the dead man's papers.

Sheer incredulity was followed by an almost stunned astonishment. For it transpired that old Bill Page, who had lived as frugally as any immigrant and never been known to give away a nickel or to help a fellow-creature in distress, was rich—immensely, unbelievably rich!

"Everything the old boy touched turned to gold," announced the astounded Landis, going through gilded securities, bonds and endless papers. "He's played the market to good purpose. Just look at this—and this—and this!"

The local attorney sat with him at the open safe.

"Odd, isn't it?" went on the latter, with a short laugh. "Fate always favors those to whom her favours are no real good. And conversely—look at me! I'm damned unlucky. When I sell short the stock goes up and up—and when I'm long, it tumbles."

"There is no will," said the attorney thoughtfully. "So everything goes to the daughter. The poor child has had a miserable life. This is her compensation."

Landis' jaw dropped.

"Jehosophat! And she's never been anywhere, or seen anything. She won't know what to do with it."

"Lots of people will be glad to help her," said the older man with a cynical smile. "Rich young women aren't friendless long."

"Damn that old miser! The girl's had no advantages. He worked her like a slave."

"And now others will 'work' her—in a different sense. Heaven help the child!" The lawyer rose. "Where is she? We must tell her of her altered circumstances."

"I'll leave that to you." The young man strode out into the keen cold sunshine, feeling his mission at an end. It was one thing to befriend a tragically lonely and unhappy girl, but quite another matter to dance attendance on an heiress. Fortune had reversed the situation.

He would go up to town tonight. He was no longer needed.

When he returned, he packed his bags and went out to the garage for his car. He was tinkling with the engine when he heard a voice behind him.

"Mr. Ridgeway, I want to thank you for being so wonderfully kind—for helping me. I don't quite know what I'd done without you."

He wheeled around, to see Rosilyn Page in the open doorway, her shabby black gown making her pale face seem even paler.

"Oh, it was nothing. I'm just off to New York."

Her big eyes widened reproachfully.

"Without even telling me? And—and you haven't asked about my plans—or anything?"

"This is the new Rosilyn talking," he thought grimly. "The old Rosilyn never would have ventured two such questions. Already she is emerging from her shell."

Aloud he said:

"I must congratulate you on your altered . . . his mind groped for the adequate word—"circumstances." Then hurriedly and consciously of a blunder in taste: "Your father's death was of course a great shock. He could not truthfully say calamity! But now you will be free to set forth on the Great Adventure, won't you? Only four days ago when we had our talk down by the water, neither of us dreamt how soon—" He broke off awkwardly, seeing the girl's eyes full of tears.

"Perhaps it was a judgment on me, his death! I should not have talked the way I did," she said un- evenly.

Landis made a little gesture of dissent.

"Don't let your conscience run away with you. You were the most dutiful daughter in the world. You can have no regrets on that score."

What a queer girl she was, to be so unmoved by the knowledge of her amazing inheritance! How different from ever yother woman, he knew!

Tomorrow—Tenderness She Had Never Heard Before.

The Armory, on E. Main St., will be open for public inspection every night this week and men in uniform will be present to conduct visitors through the departments and answer questions.

An officer will also be on duty to receive applications for enlistment.

Company L is also contemplating placing a football eleven in the field next fall and with Boxwell as coach, hopes to enjoy a successful season.

Arrested

Paul Boxwell, athletic director of the O. S. and S. O. Home, was the first man to enlist as the recruiting drive opened Monday for Company L, 147th Infantry, Ohio National Guard, in connection with the local celebration of National Guard Week.

Boxwell launched the first football team in the history of the Home last fall and under his direction, it enjoyed a successful season. He is an Ohio State University man, attending during 1923 and 1924 and was sergeant in the R. O. T. C. at that time. He also teaches in the geometry department at the Home.

Boxwell will take charge of athletics of the company, and under his leadership, the Xenia national guard unit expects to put one of the fastest basketball teams of this locality on the court next season.

Fourteen vacancies in the company still exist and other young men, graduates of high school and colleges with marked ability in football, basketball and other sports are now expected to follow Boxwell's lead and become members, making it a unit of one of the highest types in the state.

All prospective members must

DRAMA SCHOOL TEACHES WOMEN ART OF SITTING GRACEFULLY

One of the first things students learn, on entering a dramatic art class, whether it be in Xenia or in the Theatre Guild, New York, is to sit down and remain seated, gracefully. The vast majority of women, dramatic art coaches have found, no matter how graceful they may be in other ways, don't know how to sit correctly.

Pupils of Miss Jean B. Elwell, English and dramatic instructor in Central High School for a number of years, who coaches the Dramatic Art Class of the Xenia Business and Professional Women's Club, learn this lesson. Cross the legs? No, never, the students are told, unless, of course they are doing a character part which requires them to portray a "sporty" type of woman. Sit pigeon-toed? Well, yes—when doing an awkward, ill-at-ease character.

The correct way to sit down is to go down gracefully and with such perfect balance that you wouldn't fall if the chair were suddenly removed as you were to put your weight on it. Students are never allowed to "drop" into a chair—that indicates age and hopelessness, they are told.

While they sit in the chair, they keep their feet in an easy, straight-forward position, one still in advance of the other, so that they could get up and walk without shifting the position of their feet.

Of course they must sit erect in their chairs, with hands resting gracefully in their laps. Never must the hands be folded across the chest, for to do so makes an awkward line.

If you are sitting while you are reading, this—well—how do you qualify?

public, does anything but help to prove the charge.

More than five students in every six, of the 9963 in the university during the fall, winter and spring quarters of 1925-6, the official census shows, professed allegiance to a specific denomination, church or creed. The exact proportion was 85.3 per cent. And of the 1463 students who gave no church affiliations, it was pointed out, some undoubtedly were church-goers.

Methodists, were the most numerous, with 2753. Presbyterians ranked second with 1342 followed in order by the Catholics of whom there were 661; Jewish 587; Lutheran 520; Episcopal 398; Baptist 386; Congregational 327; Church of Christ 250 and Christian 210.

A total of forty-nine other denominations were accounted for in the census, the report showed.
